Tax Cut, Despite Deficit, Best Way: JFK

Military Action in Congo Seems at End

Rough Winter Weather Extends Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter's brand of rough weather — numbing cold, snow and freezing rain — extended across vast sections of the nation today, a repeat of last week's miserable climatic conditions.

Frigid weather held tight across the nation's midsection. Temperatures dropped to more than 30 degrees below zero in northern areas. It was near zero southward into sections of Kentucky and eastward to the Ohio Valley.

Freezing weather extended into Texas, with warnings of a hard freeze in southern sections and through the lower Mississippi Valley into parts of Alabama and Georgia. The cold weather threatened citrus groves in the semi-tropical lower Rio Grande Valley. Southern California again braced for more freezing weather—the ninth straight day of a cold wave that has caused more than $3 million damage to citrus, vegetable and flower crops. The mercury dropped to 41 in Los Angeles Sunday but freezing readings—as low as 12—chilled outlying areas.

A wind-lashed snowstorm off Lake Erie battered broad areas of western New York State Sunday night. Wind gusts up to 50 m.p.h. whipped the snow into blinding clouds, causing heavy drifting and cutting visibility to zero.

Nearly all traffic on more than 100 miles of the New York Thruway was halted for several hours but later some traffic was permitted between Rochester and Buffalo. The storm closed many roads throughout the area.

Freezing drizzle slicked highways in Houston and San Antonio, Tex. A glaze of ice covered sections of northern Alabama. Rain changed to sleet or snow over much of Louisiana and Mississippi, creating hazardous driving conditions.

More snow fell in the snow-covered sections of the Midwest and into the Ohio Valley and sections of Pennsylvania.

At least 15 weather-related deaths were reported—from exposure, fires, and traffic accidents on icy and snow-covered highways.

Tornado winds lashed across more than a dozen counties in south Georgia, causing thousands of dollars damage to property. The violent winds and rain struck in Perry and adjacent areas before heading out to sea near Savannah on the Atlantic Coast.

Severe windstorms, also described as possible tornadoes, touched down at Loxley and Enterprise in southern Alabama, causing damage to homes and a nursery estimated at $150,000 to $200,000.

UN Force Moves In Peacefully

Tshombe Greet Troops at Kolwezi

KOLWEZI, Katanga (AP) — United Nations forces moved peacefully into Kolwezi today and the military action to reintegrate Katanga with the rest of the Congo seemed virtually at an end.

Operation "Grand Slam Two" began at dawn. It was completed about eight hours later, with Brig. Reginald Noronha, the U.N. military commander, being welcomed into town by President Moise Tshombe.

Not a shot was fired and little knots of civilians and unarmed Katanga gendarmes waved cheerily as the U.N. column rumbled past.

Kolwezi was the last stronghold of Katanga's secessionist forces. "We are not coming as conquerors but as friends of the Congolese people," Noronha told the Katanga leader.

The U.N. task force of 100 trucks, armored cars, troop carriers and amphibious vehicles rendezvoused with a Katanga peace delegation at the little village of Pumpi, 45 miles from the center of this big mining and refinery town.

Didn't Show Up

Tshombe was expected at Pumpi but did not show up.

Around four folding tin tables set up at the roadside, Noronha discussed his plan for entering Kolwezi with the Katangans.

"Expect cooperation and hope there will be no problems of law and order," he said.

Replied the Katangans: "We come to meet you as friends and not as enemies."

Then, with Noronha in the lead, the U.N. column started to roll. At the 400 yard-long Delcombre Bridge over the Lualaba River, four tons of explosive were removed by Indian engineers.

The explosive was placed in position two weeks ago, when Tshombe threatened a scorched earth campaign to hold up the advancing U.N. troops but detonators were removed by the president's white soldiers some 12 hours before the U.N. arrival.

On the Kolwezi side of the bridge, Noronha stopped his jeep to personally disconnect a wire leading to an explosive detonator.

Thirty minutes later, the Indian commander and his troops, soldiers of the Rajputana Rifles, took over the rocket-shattered Kolwezi air field, once the headquarters of Katanga's little air force. It was blasted by Swedish jets soon after Christmas and charred wrecks of several Katanga planes still littered the tarmac.

Noronha met Tshombe at his temporary residence in downtown Kolwezi. They shook hands like old friends and posed for pictures. Tshombe was smiling and joking and asked Noronha whether he ran into any trouble.

Said the Indian commander: "No, and I want to thank you for keeping your word."

Wharton Doubts He Will Vote For Tax Slash

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton (R-28th Congressional District) reportedly said Saturday night he had "serious doubts" about voting for a $13.5 billion federal tax reduction program proposed over the next three years by President Kennedy.

Representative Wharton expressed his doubt and emphasized "such a program speedily plunges us into a $318 billion debt, increasing the debt $10 billion."

The Congressman didn't immediately make known how he will vote on the Kennedy tax reduction and budget programs. Representative Wharton, who represents Ulster, Greene, Columbia, Dutchess and Schoharie Counties, contended that President Kennedy "should do something about his pledges to reduce agricultural spending."

"President Kennedy," Wharton said, "proposes to add 250,000 employees to the federal payroll." He termed that "a staggering total in terms of additional cost to the taxpayers."

The Congressman estimated that each employee, in terms of salary, capital cost and office expense would represent an outlay of $200,000 per employee or $5 billion in initial outlay and a year's payroll.

Diers Heads List Of Six for Jobs On Police Dept.

An eligibility list bearing six names and resulting from a September examination for appointments to the police department, released today by the Municipal Civil Service Commission, is due to be considered soon by the Board of Police Commissioners.

Charles H. Diers, of 446 Delaware Avenue, heads the list with a final earned rating of 89.5 per cent.

Others on List

The others, in order of rating, are: Francis J. Sickler, 64 Smith Avenue, 88 per cent; Curtis VanDemark, 78 Hunter Street, 83.5; Joseph F. Feraca, Box 147, RD 2, New Paltz, 82; James L. Freer, Columbia Street, Sunset Park, Town of Ulster, 80.5 and Albert P. Johnson, RD 3, Box 80, Kingston, 77.5.

The list notes no veterans' credits. Five points are usually added for those requesting veterans' credit.

Under a comparatively recent lifting of the ban requiring residency, non-resident candidates were permitted to take the examination.

Interviews Held

The list, as forwarded by John F. Fitzgerald, secretary of the Commission, was established late in December, and was compiled pending police department investigations. Candidates were interviewed recently by the police board.

The police department has nine vacancies, a total which could be (Continued on Page 6, Col. 7)

No Accidental Deaths Occur In County as State Has 12

Kingston and Ulster County escaped with only minor traffic mishaps during the weekend which recorded 12 accidental deaths in the state. The Associated Press said it was the lowest weekend toll in the state in many weeks.

Six persons were killed in traffic accidents during the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday night. Three young children died in fires, and accidents of other types were responsible for three deaths.

2 Burned to Death

In New York City Saturday, two children burned to death in a fire in their apartment. Their mother, separated from her husband, was out shopping.

The dead were Hendon Belusel, 2, and his four-month-old sister, Izzia. A third child, Mohammad, 4, was injured when he jumped from a rear window 20 feet above the ground.

Other fatal accidents, by communities, include:

Ossining—Robert Shays Jr., 12, of Hillsdale, N.J., fell from a water tower he was climbing Saturday.

Cheektowaga—Floyd Lynch, 61, of Buffalo, struck by an automobile while changing a flat tire Friday night.

Struck by Car

Syracuse—Charles French, 72, of Camillus, struck by a car as he crossed a street Saturday.

Frankfort—Carmella Ann Garcia, 8, fell through ice into the Mohawk River near her home Saturday.

Cobleskill — Richard J. Hagadorn, 31, of Dorpio, two-car collision Saturday night.

Lockport—Larry L. Just, 5, of Lockport, asphyxiated in a fire at his home Saturday night.

Pottersville—Earl Quick, 24, of Pottersville, head - on collision Sunday.

Agreement Is Seen Closer on Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union appeared today to be closer to agreement on a nuclear weapons test ban than they have been at any time in almost two years.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has removed a major barrier to serious negotiation by telling President Kennedy that he would accept two or three on-site inspections a year in the Soviet Union as part of a system to prevent cheating.

Reaction Cautious

Reaction in the Senate, where a test ban pact would have to be approved, was heavily cautious. But the general feeling was that in accepting the principle of on-site inspection, Khrushchev's move was encouraging.

In an exchange of letters released here and in Moscow Sunday night, Kennedy told Khrushchev he was "encouraged that you are prepared to accept the principle of on-site inspections."

The State Department said the United States now hopes that discussions on the long deadlock test ban issue "can be continued to a successful conclusion."

Could Lead to Change

U.S. officials said Khrushchev's policy reversal could lead to a real breakthrough in the test ban negotiations. Whether it does will depend on whether Khrushchev is willing to increase the number of on-site inspections to double or triple the total he told Kennedy he would agree to at once—that is, two or three a year. The United States is asking for eight or 10.

Representatives of the three nuclear powers will reopen negotiations in a meeting here Tuesday afternoon.

The Kennedy-Khrushchev exchange covers three letters—one from Khrushchev, Dec. 19, Kennedy's reply of Dec. 28, and a second Khrushchev message on Jan. 7.

Khrushchev reminded the President that they had agreed during the Cuban crisis to deal with the nuclear test problem at some later time. He said they had passed through the period of "utmost acuteness and tension" over Cuba and their hands were now untied "to engage closely in other urgent international matters."

While the Soviet leader thus linked his conciliatory move on nuclear testing to the U.S.-Soviet agreement on Cuba, officials here (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Two Saugerties Youths Named on West Point List

Two Saugerties young men have been named on the appointment list for the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, according to information received by each youth this morning.

First on the list is Robert D. Herb, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herb of Malden-on-Hudson.

Named on the list as third alternate is Howard A. France Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. France of Simmons Drive, Barclay Heights.

Young Herb, a Saugerties High School graduate, was named first alternate in November of 1961 at the time the appointment was given to John Duffner, outstanding Kingston High School athlete.

Outstanding Student

The Saugerties youth was an outstanding student at Saugerties High and during the summer of 1961 was awarded a scholarship by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. for his scholastic achievements.

Young Herb had been active in debating and was a four-year member of the National Forensic League. He is currently attending the University of Buffalo.

The youth's father, a foreman at the Catskill Mountain Star newspaper plant at Saugerties, is a son of Mrs. Henry Herb of New York City. Young Herb's mother is the former Alice DuBois, daughter of Mrs. George E. DuBois of Russell Street, Saugerties. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 7)

Message Is To Allay Some Fears As Economy Grows

By STERLING F. GREEN .. WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy told Congress today that cutting taxes, despite a huge deficit, is "the best way open to us to increase revenues."

Kennedy devoted the annual economic report, last of his three major messages to the new Congress, to allaying the fears of those legislators who called his fiscal program — the heaviest spending and biggest tax cut in history — "incredible," "a mistake," and "too big." In the process he revealed a few more details of the tax program he will send to Congress next Thursday.

If the country should slide into recession this year through failure to reduce taxes, the President said, the prospective $11.9-billion deficit would worsen and perhaps "break all peacetime deficit records."

Makes Contrast

By contrast, Kennedy predicted, the planned $13.5-billion tax reduction will add $8.5 billion a year to families' income, boost output of consumer items by $6 billion, increase profits, and encourage business investment.

He promised: "As the economy returns to full employment, the budget will return to constructive balance."

While urging tax reduction as insurance against recession, Kennedy did not predict a slump. On the contrary, he forecast "moderate expansion" in 1963 to a record $78 billion of national output, up 4½ per cent from last year.

Already, he reported, the recovery from the depth of recession 22 months ago has halted the postwar trend of ever more frequent recessions. But the gains are "frustratingly" short of the strides that are needed, he said.

No Interruption, He Says

The message went on: "I do not expect a fifth postwar recession to interrupt our progress in 1963."

Two Teeners Are Arrested Trying To Enter Tavern

A teenager, who waived examination Saturday morning in city court and was held for grand jury action on a burglary charge, police said, was one of two caught after a reported attempt late Sunday night to enter a Thomas Street tavern.

Joseph Edward Albright, 16, of 51 West Union Street, who had recently been charged with having entered a building at the Dwyer Boat Basin, Abell Street, was apprehended with a 15-year-old boy after the reported Thomas Street attempt.

Couple's Death Due To Murder, Suicide

Murder and suicide was the coroner's verdict in the deaths of a Krumville couple found in the living room of their home Saturday night, both apparently shot by a high-powered rifle.

Kingston state police identified the victims as Robert Charles Blumenberg Jr., 38, and his wife, Gertrude Markle Blumenberg, 50, both of Krumville, Town of Ulster. State Police are checking a report that Blumenberg was a former mental patient at the New Jersey State Hospital, Greystone Park, N. J.

3 Shots Fired

A 303 British Enfield rifle, apparently with three shots fired was found near Blumenberg's body. Troopers said the deaths were probably the result of a violent argument between the couple.

Mrs. Blumenberg, state police said, had been shot twice in the chest. Her husband apparently shot her and placed the barrel to his head and fired. The back of his head was off, state police reported.

Troopers at Ellenville said they received a call at 7:50 p. m. from Blumenberg's son, John, of Ellenville, who said he was alarmed because his father was talking strangely on the phone. He and Sgt. Peter Gromacki and Trooper S. M. Kawalik went to the home on the Krumville Road and found the couple dead on the living room floor.

Coroner Arthur Chipp was called and issued a verdict of murder and suicide.

Also responding to the call were BCI Senior Investigator Edward Shannan, Investigator James Kallian and Troopers David Wachtel, and Thomas J. Crowley.

Blumenberg, a retired New York City postal clerk, was born in that city April 10, 1904, a son of the late Robert C. and Emma Blumenberg.

Here 3½ Years

Mrs. Blumenberg, a native of Atwood, was born March 10, 1912, a daughter of the late Hassie and Irma Wager Markle. They resided in Krumville for the past 3½ years.

H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson announced that funeral services for Mrs. Blumenberg would be held Wednesday 2 p. m. at Halsey Funeral Home, West Wood, N. J., where memorial services will be held at the same time for Mr. Blumenberg, who will be cremated at the convenience of the family.

Surviving Mrs. Blumenberg are a daughter, Gertrude, wife of Burton Poor of Saddlebrook, N. J.; two sons, John of Ellenville and Robert Charles III of Park Ridge, N. J.; a sister, Charlotte, wife of Arthur Long of Brooklyn; two brothers, Frederick of Hillsdale, N. J., and Tracy Markle of New City; also 10 grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. Besides his children, Mr. Blumenberg had no additional survivors.

Needed More Help

The board said its supervisory unit had become understaffed and had "not kept pace with the rapid development and growing complexity of the hospital economy of the state."

The new field workers will raise the total number on the department staff to 44. The board said this would permit supervisory visits to hospitals on the average of once every six months, instead of the present average of once every 18 months.

Liquor Licenses May Go Up, Battle on Car Fees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's chances of winning an increase in liquor-license fees appeared brighter today, but key Republicans feared the Legislature would rebel if he also tried to raise charges for registering motor vehicles.

Rockefeller's fiscal advisers have been weighing both moves as devices to help balance his new budget, expected to top $2.8 billion.

Well-posted sources said Budget Director T. Norman Hurd was ready to recommend that Rockefeller seek an increase in the charge for licenses to sell and serve alcoholic beverages.

It was reported, however, that Hurd and his aides still were exploring alternative ways of raising revenue before making a final decision on boosting motor-vehicle charges.

Ranking Republicans in the Legislature thought the GOP majority would be willing to go along with a beverage-fee increase. But, when it came to motor vehicles, the "can" warnings went up.

"I can tell you this—it would be rough," said Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlini.

Sen. John H. Hughes of Syracuse said, "I don't think the chances of passage are very good."

Rockefeller and Hurd continued work on the new budget as the 1963 Legislature entered its second working week. The first bills of the session, reported out of committee last week, were up for floor action tonight.

Among them was a measure to (Continued on Page 6, Col. 7)

Kingston Jaycee 'Father-Bosses' Nite' Wednesday

Seven E. Huben, chairman of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored "Father-Bosses' Nite," announced that reservations to date for this annual event are surpassing those of previous years.

In an interview, Huben stated "Our committee is extremely pleased with the overwhelming response received from our Jaycee members and their 'Bosses'."

During our initial contact with members, better than half made reservation immediately. Additional reservations are coming in daily, and it appears that the total attendance will be greater than in the past."

Huben continued, "I offer my personal thanks to the Jaycees and their Fathers and Bosses who have been so receptive, and to my committee for an outstanding job." The committee consists of Robert H. Kelder, John A. Lawson and Guy A. Visk.

"Bosses' Nite" will be held during National Jaycee Week Wednesday, January 23 at Sky Top Restaurant, starting at 5:30 p. m.

Reservation can still be made by contacting any committee member.

Western Section Of State Is Hit By Winds, Snow

ALANY, N.Y. (AP) — Frigid winds from the west blew the mercury rapidly into the shiver zone today in New York State and tossed snow into blinding swirls in some areas.

The Thruway Authority reported poor visibility from Syracuse west on the superhighway, where traffic came to a near standstill Sunday night.

Main Roads Open

All main roads were reported open. A few rural schools in western and northern New York were closed because of conditions on secondary roads.

A sample of the skidding temperatures was Albany's overnight low of 12, after a high of 42 Sunday. The Weather Bureau forecast readings of zero and below in most of the state tonight, except for 10-15 above in New York City. Tuesday is expected to be mostly fair and continued cold, after scattered squalls to the lee of the Great Lakes.

Overnight Temperatures

Overnight low temperatures the bureau listed today ranged from 2 above at Alean to 23 at LaGuardia Airport.

Blowing snow halted travel on many roads in western New York Sunday night, including more than 100 miles of the Thruway.

Numerous vehicles were abandoned throughout the area.

About 40 eastbound tractor-trailers and some automobiles were escorted on the Thruway from Williamsville, near Buffalo, to Batavia by State Police.

Travelers on other sections of the superhighway were urged either to wait for State Police escorts or stay off.

Trees were felled by the winds in the Rochester area.

Tuition Protest at Paltz Fades As Students Take Mid-Term Exams

All was quiet at the State University College of Education in New Paltz today as the student body bulked down to mid-semester examinations after their Saturday protest parade over possible establishment of a tuition system in state colleges.

Examinations began at 8 a. m. today at the college and Leland E. Heinze, director of public relations, said the campus was quiet and the students apparently hard at studies.

A protest parade at the New Paltz college Saturday in which some 400 students participated in a two-hour long parade through the village, apparently was in effect a protest over the meeting of the College Board of Trustees Tuesday in New York City when the matter of tuition at State University Colleges will be discussed and perhaps acted upon.

The student body in State University colleges, including the New Paltz student body, are opposed to the trustees making a decision on tuition at the Tuesday meeting. They seek a postponement on such decision so that the matter of tuition beginning next fall, may be publicly aired at which time students can present their views.

During the two hour parade from campus through the village streets Saturday, there was no disorder, college spokesmen said. The parade was conducted under the watchful eyes of state police, but their services were not necessary.

There were placards carried by some students protesting the imposition of tuition charges on students, among the placards was one which carried the legend "our position—no tuition."

After the parade through the streets the students returned to campus. New Paltz students participated in the 52-school state-wide program of burning the "mid-night oil," by keeping dormitory lights burning in to the wee hours.

The New Paltz school newspaper, The Oracle, published a special edition in which the background of the tuition proposal was outlined. The paper urged the student body to write to their legislators for support to kill the proposal, citing that it would be a great hardship on many students if the proposed $400 a year tuition is adopted.

Opposing the proposal of the student body at New Paltz to have the board of trustees postpone action at its Tuesday meeting in New York City is John A. Roosevelt of Hyde Park, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a trustee of the State University of New York.

Roosevelt said the plan was not new. He made known the fact that he favored the tuition arrangement. A "very, very fair tuition plan" is being considered by the Board of trustees, Roosevelt said. Roosevelt is a member of the subcommittee which has been studying the subject.

The chairman of the committee, Roosevelt said, is Mrs. John A. Warner, vice-chairman of the board of trustees, and daughter of the late Alfred E. Smith.

The tuition plan has been widely discussed among State University teachers as well as (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Rocky to Tap Borrowed Funds to Aid Pay Plan

By ROBERT T. GRAY ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is planning to tap funds borrowed by his Democratic predecessor and use the money to help preserve the pay-as-you-go program of his own administration.

The anticipated move is further indication of the extremely tight fiscal situation in which the state administration now finds itself.

In the deficiency budget now before the Legislature, Rockefeller is seeking permission to take $2.1 million from borrowed funds in bond accounts that have been inactive since he ordered the state government put on a pay-as-you-go basis in 1959.

The money would be used to meet payments due on the bonds.

Weil Is Accused Of Burglarizing Plattekill Home

Accused of burglarizing a town of Plattekill home Saturday prior to the return of the owner's wife, Robert Weil, 22, of 44 Madison Avenue, Madison, N. J., was apprehended by a town constable in a Clintondale pharmacy.

State Trooper G. W. Zappolo, Highland, said Weil was arraigned on a burglary third degree charge before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus. The defendant requested a preliminary hearing which was slated for Wednesday.

Abandons New Car

Authorities reported that Weil abandoned a new 1963 sport car on the State Thruway near Modena Friday night, and apparently spent the night in a wooded area. At about 8:30 a. m. Saturday, Weil allegedly entered the Pierce home at Modena and completely ransacked the residence in the absence of the family.

At about 10 a. m., Mrs. Edna Pierce returned home and noticed the garage door open. She thought that her husband had returned home, and as she alighted from the family vehicle she heard someone rapping on a window of the residence.

Weil walked from the house and when asked what he wanted, he reportedly replied, he wanted some clothes.

Weil opened his coat and displayed a red flannel shirt and gray pants belonging to the woman's husband, troopers said. Later Weil reportedly tried to wrestle the keys of the Pierce car from Mrs. Pierce and a brief struggle ensued. The woman ran into the house.

Woman Fires Shot

Weil reached through a door from which he allegedly had smashed a pane of glass to gain entrance earlier. Mrs. Pierce, authorities said, fired a shot through the door from a .22 caliber rifle and Weil fled.

Troopers said Weil hitch-hiked a ride to Clintondale, where he went to a pharmacy to obtain medical aid for lacerations of the hands he received when he reportedly broke the door glass. Constable Carmine Savarese, Town of Plattekill took Weil in custody and later turned him over to Trooper Wallace Mahan, Highland. The accused man was taken to Vassar Hospital for treatment and later arraigned before Judge Beaver.

Authorities said Weil apparently was suffering a mental strain. Assisting in the investigation was Russell Carpenter, Town of Plattekill.

In Serious Condition From Bullet Wound

A 26-year-old woman was reported in serious condition at Albany Medical Center this morning, suffering a bullet wound of the head, Leeds State Police reported. Mrs. Elizabeth Huff of West Cossackie was sitting in the kitchen talking with her husband, and then walked into a bedroom where she reportedly shot herself in the head with a .22 caliber revolver. Troopers said the woman was treated by a physician and later taken to the hospital.

Two Teeners Are

was made to enter it through a skylight.

The two were apprehended in the area by Sgt. Carl Janasiewicz and Officer Joseph Kivlan. The 15-year-old boy is to be dealt with in children's court as a juvenile delinquent. They were arrested after questioning by detectives Gurnsey Burger and Harold DeGraff.

Police claim solution of two other burglaries in the city and three in the county as a result of the arrests.

A report shortly after 8 p. m. Sunday noted that the American Legion building, West O'Reilly Street, had been entered and some $15 taken. A similar burglary was reported there several days ago. Entrance, each time was gained through a rear door.

To Question Others

A report on the younger one, indicated he had admitted participation in other burglaries. Police said others are to be questioned.

Police headquarters was notified at 11:03 p. m. that an apparent attempt was being made to enter the darkened tavern while "three or four persons" were still there. Officers Edward Edwards and James Scott were dispatched to the area with Janasiewicz and Kivlan.

City Judge Joseph D. Sacco today put Albright's case over to Tuesday to permit him time to obtain counsel.

Waived on Saturday

A December police report said Albright and LeRoy Hamilton Jr., 17, of 75 West Union Street, were charged with having taken two chairs and a stool from a building at the Dwyer boat basin and burning them on Rondout Creek. It was on that charge that Albright waived examination in city court Saturday. Hamilton's case went to the grand jury earlier.

Albright had been released in the custody of his parents after the first arrest.

Police began an investigation Saturday morning of the theft of televisions and radios valued at $400 from Arace's Appliance store, 562 Broadway. Entrance there was reported made through a skylight and with use of a ladder. Police claim no statement as to participation of the two in that theft.

Communists Say U. S. Indecision Aids Their Cause

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP)—A captured document indicates the Communists hope to wrest eventual victory in Viet Nam through what the Reds call indecision in Washington of the scale of American intervention. Authoritative sources here regard the document, dated Sept. 25, 1962, as genuine and of great importance in evaluating Red strategy. It apparently is a sort of Viet Cong annual report.

America's dilemma on the size of forces it should commit, the document says, "is the key weakness in U.S.-South Vietnamese efforts against the Communists."

Driver Is Fined $10 for Failure To Keep Right

The driver of a car involved in a two-car accident Sunday at Boiceville was arrested on a charge of failure to keep right and fined $10.

Joshua J. Gedrich, 22, of 46 Briarwood Drive, Short Hill, N. J., operator of a car owned by Jacob Gedrich, same address, was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs John G. Daly and Calvin Harvey and taken before Justice of the Peace Frank Carl of Shokan where he paid a $10 fine. It was alleged he was operating the car at 8:35 a. m. on Route 28 at Boiceville when he attempted to pass cars on a hill at an excessive speed in a 35 mile an hour zone, lost control of his car and struck a car owned and operated by John G. Daley, 50, Boiceville. The Daley car was pushed off the road a considerable distance by the impact but no one was injured. Both cars were traveling north on Route 28. Daley had signaled to make a left turn into a side road when the Gedrich car attempted to pass a line of cars.

Kennedy of UMW Union Wednesday

HAZLETON, Pa., (AP)—Thomas Kennedy, who went to work in the coal fields when he was 11 and became president of the 200,000-member United Mine Workers Union, will be buried Wednesday.

Kennedy, 75, a one-time Pennsylvania lieutenant governor, died Saturday at his home after a long illness. The cause of death was not disclosed.

His death brings to the presidency of the independent union W. A. (Tony) Boyle, 58, vice president. Boyle has, in effect, been the head of the union since Kennedy became seriously ill a year ago.

Kennedy, taciturn and composed, succeeded the volatile John L. Lewis as president in 1960. The two were close friends. Lewis, 82, is president emeritus of the big union.

Boyle will serve until the expiration of Kennedy's four-year term late in 1964.

In Fair Condition Following Accident

James Steeves, 28, of Sawkill is reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital following a highway accident 6:15 p. m. Sunday on Sawkill Road when his car left the highway on a curve and rolled over on the roof.

Kingston state police said the operator suffered lacerations of the knees and contusions and abrasions of the body. Troopers Norman Kilfoyle and John Smatko reported Steeves was proceeding south on Sawkill Road about a mile north of Route 28, and while attempting a right curve, went off the left side of the highway and overturned on the roof. He was operating a 1960 foreign compact.

Tax Cut, Despite

but the fact of five years of excessive unemployment, unused capacity and slack profits—and the consequent hobbling of our growth rate—that constitutes the urgent case for tax reduction and reform."

The $13.5 billion in proposed tax cuts, partly offset by $3.5 billion of revenue-raising revisions, would go into partial effect on July 1, Kennedy said.

Deals With Incomes

Individual income tax liabilities would be reduced by $6 billion a year, most of which "would translate immediately into greater take-home pay" through lower tax withholding on paychecks. More cuts would come in 1964 and 1965, to a total of well over $8 billion.

More than $7 billion of this would be poured into purchases of new goods and services, Kennedy said, and the spending stream would be swollen as corporations — also beneficiaries of tax relief — increase dividend payments. The rising demand would call for greater output and more factory hiring — and hence, he said, more income and still more spending.

On Small Business

Special tax relief for small businesses would be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1963, he disclosed. This would be a full year ahead of the start of the basic corporate tax rate reductions from 52 per cent to 47 per cent, a $2.5-billion cut.

Corporations now pay 30 per cent on their first $20,000 of income plus an additional 22 per cent on the rest for a total of 52 per cent. Kennedy said that, as of the start of this year, the rate on the first $25,000 would be dropped to 22 per cent, but the 52 per cent over-all rate would be retained for 1963.

Thus companies with small earnings would benefit quickly. As if in direct response to congressional critics who challenged his plan for a $10-billion net tax reduction in the face of a deficit-laden $98.8-billion budget, Kennedy stressed the need to put idle men, mines and factories back to work.

The anticipated deficit would be roughly three-fourths as big as is now anticipated even if taxes were not reduced, Kennedy said, because a slack economy is not producing enough taxable income and profits.

An effort to cut the deficit by drastic curtailment of spending would be "self-defeating," he said; it would not only endanger the national security but would depress demand, production and employment so that revenues would fall "and leave the government budget still in deficit."

The President did not renew his request for standby antirecession powers made in his economic message last year and rejected by Congress. But he gave notice that when this session's major tax overhaul is finished, he will push again for the standby powers to cut taxes temporarily, and speed up public works spending, at the onset of a recession.

Catskill Man Is Charged With Assault

Charged with assault second degree as the aftermath of an incident at his home late Saturday night, Joseph Higgins, 29, of 413 Main Street, Catskill, was released on $250 bail pending a hearing.

Catskill police said Patrolman Donald Thorne went to Higgins home to investigate a complaint that the man was smashing furniture in the apartment. Thorne reported later, Higgins appeared from a room and threatened him with a 30-30 rifle.

Thorne disarmed Higgins and subdued him, police said, and then took him to police headquarters across the street, where the assault charge was lodged. Higgins is slated for hearing before Justice of the Peace Arthur Webster.

Prison Guard Hurt When Car Overturns

A Green Haven prison guard injured at 5:30 p. m. Saturday, when his car overturned off Route 9D, south of Brockway Road, Town of Fishkill. State police said Charles Delahay, 53, of Fishkill, suffered possible cerebral concussion and fractured spine, a neck injury and multiple abrasions. He was admitted to Highland Hospital, Beacon.

Arrests Increase By State Police In '62 by 31.1 PC

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—State Police Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr. reported that arrests by troopers in 1962 rose by 31.1 per cent over the 1961 level.

Cornelius said Sunday that convictions also increased. State Police made 244,018 arrests last year, the superintendent said, compared with 185,079 in 1961.

Of the total 1962 arrests, 220,238 resulted in convictions — an increase of 30.5 per cent over the total in 1961.

Ice Jam Remains Solid in Niagara River

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The 13-mile-long ice jam in the lower Niagara River, which drew thousands of spectators during the week-end, remained solid today.

The Coast Guard said there were no signs of an immediate breakup, although a channel of water was visible along the Canadian shore from the Horseshoe Falls to the Maid of the Mist excursion landing — a distance of several hundred yards.

Visitors jammed both sides of the river Saturday and Sunday.

The U. S. Budget and You

AP Analyst Tells How It Works on Economy

EDITOR'S NOTE — Don't let those big figures scare you off—the federal budget really is about you. In this, first of two self-contained articles on the budget, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, discusses how the budget affects the economy, especially this year.

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal budget is a hefty compilation of figures and estimates so complex that even an electronic computer might flinch at sight of it. But it can affect the lives of all citizens.

Depending on what Congress finally does about the one submitted by President Kennedy, the budget can touch you in many ways—your job, your profits, your taxes, your pension, even your cost of living.

Could Nullify Benefits

The formal budget which the President is required by law to present to Congress each January may affect you less than the actual cash budget which shows what the Treasury expects to take in and to pay out. The cash budget is about one-fifth larger than the administrative or formal one. And it estimates a deficit of $10.3 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Treasury would thus be putting that much more money into the economy than it would be taking out. This could spur economic growth, provided it didn't set off price inflation that would nullify the benefits.

If the budget proposed a surplus, it would mean taking more out in taxes than the Treasury was putting back in by spending. This could brake any inflation. But under present conditions, it might feed a recession—just what nobody wants, or right now expects.

The parts, as well as the whole, of the budget affect you, high taxes, for example, take out of the stream of industry and trade money that might be used by consumers and business firms to buy goods and services.

The argument for cutting taxes, as the new budget proposes, is that lower taxes will spur the economy. This could create jobs or lengthen work weeks. It could mean more profits for business, higher incomes for individuals, and more incentive for both to get going.

Spending Affects All

Spending programs affect all taxpayers and countless individuals who receive money directly—government pay checks, veteran benefits, jobless compensation—or persons whose jobs depend on government orders. The specialized government spending programs touch many communities as well as industries. Some of the spending is for loans or public works which may return money to the Treasury and to the communities.

So that leaves the neat problem: Just where do the benefits from spending offset the drag of taxes on the economy?

And in the case of the present budget, there's the problem of the effect of a $10 billion or more Treasury deficit on the economy.

Much of the effect of the bud-

To Probe Jail Reports

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Arthur A. Darrigand has ordered a grand jury investigation into treatment of prisoners at the Oneida County Jail here and at the Rome County Hospital.

Darrigand said Friday the investigation was prompted by prisoners' complaints about such things as the food, bedding, mail censorship and lack of recreation facilities at the jail.

Complaints also have been lodged about the chaining of ailing prisoners to their beds at the Rome hospital where there is no prison ward.

Worth Knowing

A friend was telling us about man's methods of greeting. J. Howard Byrne from ancient times down to the present, and apparently just about every conceivable gesture has been used at various times in different societies. Some primitive peoples saluted each other by sniffing at each other, others patted one another, others stroked each other the way we might stroke a pet, some blew air in each other's faces, and, of course, rubbing noses is one that most of us have known about.

Some primitive greetings were very intimate in their stroking and patting. A kiss upon the hand or knee was a token of reverence in ancient Greece. In Rome, a kiss on the lips was a civil token. In the early church, a kiss signified fellowship and peace. In many early societies, one showed his respect for a superior by bowing and kissing the feet. Words of greeting have varied from blessings, and even prayers on down to the present "How do you do" or "Good afternoon" or "Good-bye." Good-bye actually is a contraction of the ancient "God be with ye." In our business, greeting you with friendship, regardless of the cause for your visit, is basic to our policy of serving you as we would want to be greeted and served. J. H. Youths Indicted In Slaying of Auto Salesman

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Two private-school boys, who, police say, wanted a white convertible, were under indictment to day on first-degree murder charges in the bludgeoning-slaying of an automobile salesman.

A Clinton County grand jury returned the indictments Friday against Joseph Fontaine, 18, of Laconia, N.H., and Joseph Mackay, 17, of New York City.

Mandatory pleas of innocent were entered for the pair in State Supreme Court, and they were ordered held in jail to await trial. The two had attended Mount Assumption Institute, a Roman Catholic boarding school here.

Harold Stratton, 66, was beaten to death with a chisel and bumper jack Dec. 2 at the garage where he was employed.

Police said the boys had arranged to meet Stratton at the garage that day, a Sunday, after telling him that Fontaine's father wanted to buy a car. Police reported the two claimed they intended merely to knock the salesman unconscious.

The boys returned to the school for a study period after the slaying, police said. Later, police said, Fontaine went back to the garage, stole the convertible and drove it about the city. Police pursued the boy and apprehended him when the car crashed into two other automobiles and a tree.

Lift Seaway Tolls

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—All tolls will be lifted from in-transit cargo on the St. Lawrence Seaway during the 1963 navigation season.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation said today that cargo not discharged within the Seaway or the Great Lakes area will be toll-free, both up-bound and down-bound. In 1962, only up-bound in-transit cargo escaped toll charges.

Rail Engineer Killed

MONTREAL (AP)—The engineer of a freight train bound for Montreal from Massena, N.Y., was killed Saturday night in the derailment of his locomotive and four boxcars in suburban Candiac.

Four other crew members were injured slightly. They were treated in a hospital.

Candiac police identified the dead man as Romeo Hervieux, 54, of Montreal.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 21, 1963

LATIN AMERICAN AID

There appears to be a healthy growth of recognition, among U. S. citizens, that this country is engaged in a race against poverty and despair in Latin America. It is coming to be more and more widely understood that the Alliance for Progress is not a mere boost for people who need a little help, but potentially the one great bulwark against communism in the Western Hemisphere.

The danger from communism is great and imminent because most of the Latin Americans live in extreme poverty, with almost no hope of improvement in their situation unless help comes from outside. As Senator Humphrey remarked upon his return from a Latin American study trip, about 80 per cent of the people in Central and South America are to be found in rural areas where "barely scratching out a living is a day by day problem."

Humphrey's views on the consequences of this situation are worth quoting. "Rural poverty is almost universal," he said, "and families are moving into the cities. These cities will soon be inundated with people, and it's both unhealthy and dangerous." In the opinion of this member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Alliance for Progress will not succeed "until we can break the back of rural poverty." He has said of the Alliance, "Fires have been lighted in Latin America, and what happens now depends upon how they burn."

This is a point to be stressed. Merely setting the Alliance for Progress in motion is not enough. There must be a continuing effort to provide aid in ways best suited to the needs of a region where a few wealthy land owners dominate the economy and to a great extent control government. It will not suffice merely to pour out aid; it must be channeled into the hands of people who need it.

JFK'S OTHER TOPICS

President Kennedy's tax-reduction proposals are so controversial, and they bring such happy surmise to the average taxpayer's mind, that this aspect of his State of the Union message has obscured the rest of what he said. That is natural, considering the sensitivity of the pocketbook nerve.

More will be heard about the tax proposals in the months ahead. In the meantime, it is worthwhile to reflect on some of the other things the President talked about. For as the chief executive remarked after outlining his plan to cut taxes, tax reduction alone "is not enough to strengthen our society, to provide opportunities for the four million new Americans who are born every year, to improve the lives of the 32 million Americans who still live on the outskirts of poverty." No one can quarrel with his assertion that "the quality of American life must keep pace with the quantity of American goods."

This does not mean that there will not be wide differences of opinion on Mr. Kennedy's proposals for bringing about this improvement in quality. His phrase, "investing in our youth," sounds fine, but there will be controversy about what form such investment should take. The same goes for his recommendations with regard to public health, civil rights and the effective use of resources. But the importance of all these areas of concern cannot be denied. Now is the time for all citizens to mull over what the President has said, and to make decisions about these matters.

UNITED NATIONS—(NEA)—Nikita Khrushchev managed to survive Stalin's purges and has so far out-smarted his rivals in the Kremlin. Now he faces the decision of his life: to break or not to break openly with Red China's Mao Tse-tung?

Even West Berlin, though it remains a top target of Soviet official policy, is eclipsed by the historic quarrel of the two Red giants.

A Yugoslav official told this writer, "It is not what Khrushchev says or does not say publicly that will decide the fate of world communism. It is the drama behind the scenes that will in the long run determine communism's future."

Yugoslavia's President Tito, Premier Khrushchev's new-found friend and Mao Tse-tung's bitter enemy, is reported to have urged the Soviet premier to break openly with Red China.

Even before the meeting of Russia's satellites at the East German party congress, Tito hinted that his international policies are based on the belief that a Russian-Chinese split would come "very soon."

In the view of Yugoslavia's president, the break between Moscow and Peking has been progressing far too slowly. In order to fit Yugoslav plans, the open rift must come more rapidly for reasons:

1. Tito is anxious to isolate Red China. This will strengthen considerably Yugoslavia's position in the Red bloc.

2. Tito fears that Premier Khrushchev might doublecross him again. The thought of an eventual deal between Moscow and Peking is something that gives the Yugoslav president nightmares.

After all, wasn't Tito himself denounced for years by Moscow as a "revolutionist" until Khrushchev decided recently to use him as an ally in the fight against the "dogmatist" Mao?

The Khrushchev-Mao war of words has now degenerated to a point where the Soviet premier has to speak out strongly if he is to stay at the helm of international communism. But the Russians obviously want to keep open their lines of communication with Mao in the hope that their differences might somehow be patched up.

Khrushchev realizes that an open break with China will split world communism into hostile camps.

China is likely to get the backing of an aggressive minority, including Albania, North Korea, North Viet Nam and possibly even Fidel Castro in Cuba, that would be embarrassing vocal in its attacks on Russia.

This has long been the view of men like Mikhail Suslov and other "internal Chinese" (Vnutrennyia Kitaitzy) who still would wield considerable power in the Kremlin.

Moscow's East German puppet Walter Ulbricht, Czechoslovakia's Red chieftain Antonin Novotny and Maurice Thorez, leader of the French Reds, are also believed to be against an open break between Russia and China, despite signs of hedging in the East German press.

But President Tito, backed by Palmiro Togliatti of the Italian Communist Party and Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka, have been pressing Khrushchev for a speedy break with Mao.

This, in the view of specialists on Soviet-Chinese relations, accounts for Nikita Khrushchev's zig-zag policies.

Long before the Red conclave in East Berlin the Soviet premier and Mao denounced each other with all the curse words from the ample bag of Marxist-Leninist doubletalk. Many of Moscow's puppets even had public rehearsals (party congresses) at which they attacked Mao.

But Khrushchev remains in a dilemma. Like the maid in the English limerick, he cannot say yes to an open break with Mao and he cannot say no. So he says maybe and hopes to appease all antagonists in the Red camp by again twisting the West's tail in Berlin.

THE WELL CHILD

Keep Aspirin Tablets Away From Children

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Aspirin is the most common cause of poisoning in children, and Dr. Roger Meyer has tried to determine the reason.

He was able in one year to find 128 cases of aspirin poisoning in children between 1 and 5 years of age in a large American city. More than half of these children had easily removed the "childproof" protective cap that has been devised to prevent such accidents.

In many instances the child was imitating "what mommy does when she doesn't feel good." Some of the children were either playing doctor or having a "tea party" and the aspirin tablets were shared with brothers or playmates. Seventy-two of them took the pills in the hour just preceding their mealtime, a time when the child was beginning to get hungry and the mother was too busy preparing the meal to notice what was happening.

It was found that 43 of the children were recovering from an illness and were just beginning to get their appetites back. In many instances a visitor or telephone call had distracted the mother's attention from her child. In some cases the child had been left alone or left with a baby sitter.

Often the mother had taken an aspirin and had forgotten to put the bottle back in a safe place. Several mothers had failed to appreciate their child's ability to climb up to the medicine cabinet or bureau drawer. In some cases, even when the mother had discovered that the child had taken an unknown number of pills, she was not aware of the danger and had failed to call a doctor.

Of the 128 children, 127 had been given aspirin at one time or another, often for the slightest indisposition. Frequently the mother, in order to get the child to accept the tablet, had referred to it as candy rather than as medicine. Because of the pleasant flavors now used in most brands of children's aspirin the tots made heroic efforts to get at the bottle. Children who had been poisoned by aspirin, when offered he tablets at a later date showed no reluctance to accept them.

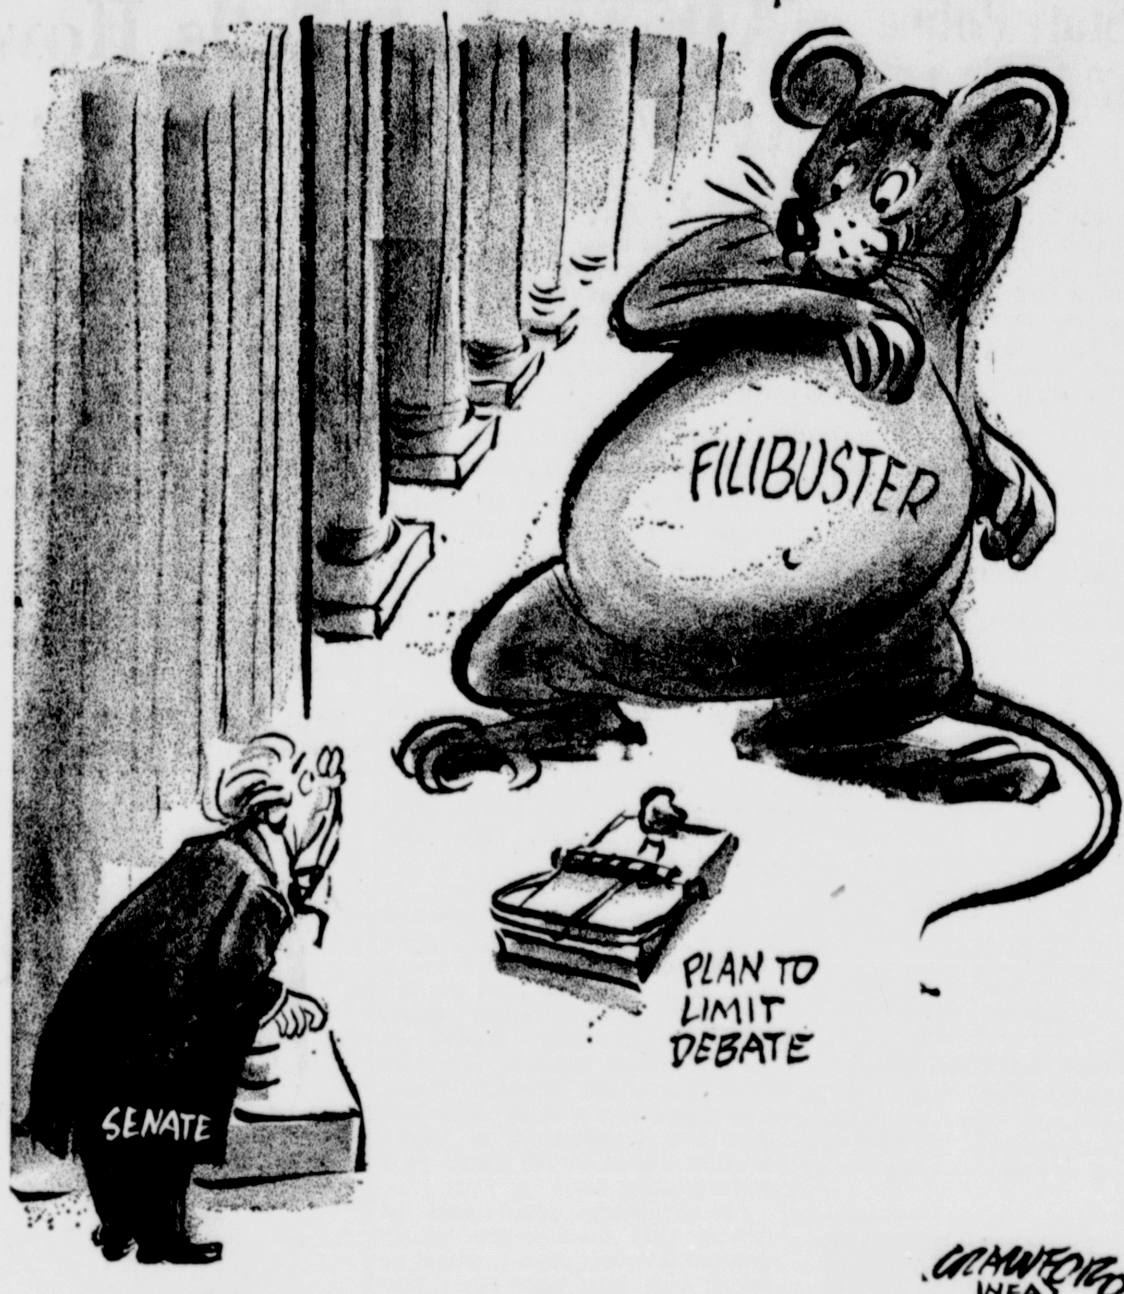

Thus it can be seen that accidental aspirin poisoning is not, strictly speaking, an accident, but rather the result of a slip-up of some kind. The child who is poisoned with aspirin may vomit, become dizzy, perspire profusely, become mentally confused, go into a coma and may even die.

Do not fall into the trap of thinking that aspirin is a harmless drug. Do not be fooled by the presence of the "safety cap" on the bottle. Do not leave aspirin tablets or any kind of tablets that contain aspirin as one of several ingredients where a child can get at them. If you believe that, in spite of all precautions, your child has taken an unknown number of tablets call your doctor at once.

Better Mouse Trap

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

While President Kennedy in his State of the Union message puts tax reduction and reform as the most important issue, unemployment is still one of the most serious problems for the Kennedy administration, the new Congress, management, labor and the national economy.

Preliminary figures for 1962 show that unemployment dropped only 274,000 to an estimated 3.8 million as of Dec. 31. Employment increased by 1.1 million jobs during the year while the civilian labor force increased by 800,000. Actually, nonfarm employment increased by 1.4 million jobs to a 67.5 million total. But farm employment dropped by 300,000 to four million total at year end. Solving the slowly but steadily decreasing agricultural employment problem is one of the harder-to-cure aspects of the situation.

LABOR SECRETARY Willard Wirtz admits it is really surprising there are not more protests from the four million and more Americans who have been unemployed in the past two years. One reason given is that unemployment is not general but concentrated in depressed industry and area pockets. Another reason there is not more protest is that unemployment insurance cushions the impact. Also, most of the unemployed are unskilled workers, the uneducated and young workers without job training or experience. Unemployment rates in these groups are twice as high as among skilled workers.

Government programs to reduce unemployment so far have been unable to do the whole job alone. Area redevelopment and manpower training programs are just getting started.

Not enough contracts have been let and construction started on the accelerated works program to create many new jobs. Congress took no action on the Kennedy administration youth employment opportunities proposal last year. It will be presented again to the new session. It is aimed at creating more jobs and reducing high unemployment for workers under 20.

BUSINESS LEADERS TALK in optimistic tones about the possibility that a tax cut will stimulate industry to create new jobs. The same claim was made for the tax credit on new investments and the new depreciation allowance schedules put into effect last year, but there hasn't been enough time to measure their effects on employment and unemployment, if any.

The other side of this coin is that new investments may be channeled into labor saving machinery that will cut employment instead of reducing unemployment. Wirtz is of the opinion that something will have to be done soon to offset unemployment caused by automation.

Organized labor leaders are counting on a tax cut for low income workers to stimulate consumer spending enough to create more jobs. The other big pitch in the union's program is to reduce the work week to 35 hours so as to spread available jobs among more workers.

Industry leaders oppose this as an effort to put over a disguised pay raise — less work for the same money. Wirtz also says, "I do not think this is the right answer."

A FACTOR THAT CONCERNS him more is that about 7 per cent of today's industrial production comes from overtime work. This is slightly above unemployment rates of around 6 per cent during the last two years.

If the unemployed could be given this work, everything might be dandy. But it isn't that easy. Much of the overtime production is temporary — like the current drive on manufacture of new models in the auto industry. Most of the unemployed in chronically depressed areas aren't located where the overtime work is available and, besides don't have the skills to do it.

Also, from the employer's point of view, it has been estimated that it costs up to $1,500 the first year to add a new worker to the payroll.

If a new worker has to be laid off after a temporary work rush is over, he gets unemployment insurance, lowering the employer's rating. In some industries the worker would have to be paid supplementary benefits.

These are just a few of the many practical problems that have to be solved before unemployment can be reduced to the manageable proportions of a 4 per cent rate or less.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

My dog Rocky is beginning to age. He will be six in March which is the halfway point in the life of a German shepherd. He is staid, dignified, the pink-tongued yawning king of the household. The black head is handsome, the ears standing and the head cocked to listen. Still, signs of age are present. When he plays with the little children, he skids on floors and falls on his head.

There are other signs. When he was younger, if the doorknob rang he emitted a soft muffled woof. Today, the same bell causes him to run around hysterically barking in a deep tone, as though pressing the panic button. Not only that, he will also run right through someone who is trying to answer the bell.

There was a time when Rocky would guard any baby who visited our house. Wherever the bassinet was placed, he would doze under it. Now, when grandchildren come to visit, he worries over the little ones, frets if he catches them teetering on the edge of a stairway, barks at them and licks their faces if he catches them wrestling and, if an infant cries, he runs through the house like a berserk Malay, barking at adults to do something.

He's a good dog. The best. When someone offers him a peanut, or a piece of candy, he never snaps. The mouth opens in slow motion and he gets around the fingers without nipping them. He permits children to slide down his back when he is sleeping, and they are allowed to yank his long black tail or pull his ears.

But he sleeps more than formerly. He follows me from the dining room to the office, where he naps, back to the bathroom, where he naps outside the door, to the television set, where he naps without apparently hearing or seeing. When I go to bed, he remains awake outside the door until he hears the light snap off.

Then he heaves a big sigh, and he drops like a safe from a roof. He sleeps with the eyes closed, and ears up. If the oil burner in the cellar goes on during the night, his eyes open, the ears turn, and he listens. Once he is assured that this is a normal sound, he goes back to sleep.

He has become so particular about his diet that he ignores all dog food. He wants people food, and he will go hungry rather than eat anything but cooked scraps. Rocky weighs 85 pounds, so he needs a lot of food. In an automobile, he is nervous, the hind legs tremble, and sometimes he gets sick.

Disaster From Nuclear War Keeps Soviet Peace-Minded

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The biggest piece of news in a long time—and by far the most reassuring to the American People — has just come in the form of a speech by Premier Khrushchev to the Convention of the Communist Party in East Germany.

For if there were any doubt that the Cuban maneuver was a hoax and that a major war, with nuclear bombs or missiles, has been and is farthest from the intentions of the Soviet Union, this now can be removed by examining the words of the Soviet Premier. In that speech, Mr. Khrushchev acknowledged for the first time that the United States has at least 40,000 nuclear bombs and warheads, and that the Soviet Union would not risk the unleashing of such power.

The American Government has never revealed the figures officially, but the fact that Mr. Khrushchev knows them is in itself significant of the way the world is veering toward an era of peace. This doesn't mean that the Soviets, if they ever built up their strength to equal ours, wouldn't start bullying and threatening again. It does mean that America must maintain her military lead no matter what it costs. It also means that serious consideration should be given to a revival of the so-called "Skybolt" program as a matter of the greatest precaution involving the nation's safety.

For President Kennedy is putting his reliance on missiles fired from this country and on bombers that will be based in Western Europe. In addition, he is counting on the Polaris missiles, which would be directed toward the Soviet Union from submarines under the seas. The question arises whether it is safe for the United States to discard her intercontinental bombers which can fire such missiles as the "Skybolt" from the air at points 1,000 miles away from Soviet territory. Indeed, the overseas bases might be destroyed by Soviet missiles or bombers, or they might someday be withdrawn from our use in Europe, where communism could conceivably frustrate national policy. This possibility is illustrated by the difficulties nowadays in trying to get agreement on a NATO formula for handling nuclear weapons.

Speech Worth Examining
It is worth while, therefore, to examine carefully the exact wording of the Khrushchev speech, an excerpt from which follows:

"I will tell you a secret: Our scientists have worked out a 100-megaton bomb. But according to our scientists' calculations, a 100-megaton bomb must not be used in Europe."

"Should our probable enemy unleash war, then where should we drop it—over West Germany or France? But the explosion of such a bomb over this territory would affect you and several other countries. Therefore, we can use such a weapon only outside the confines of Europe. I am saying this in order that there should be a more realistic appreciation of what horrifying means of destruction there exist."

"Comrades, to put it in a nutshell, as I have already said during the session of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R., it is not advisable to be in a hurry for the other world. Nobody ever returned from there to report that one lives better there than here."

Many Would Perish
"At present, according to the estimates by foreign scientists and military experts, the United States has roughly 40,000 nuclear bombs and warheads. Everyone knows that the Soviet Union, too, has more than enough of this stuff."

"What would happen if all that nuclear armament were dropped on human heads? As the result of the first blow alone, 700-800 million people would have perished. All the big cities would be wiped out or destroyed, not only in the two leading nuclear states—the United States and the Soviet Union—but also in France, Britain, Germany, Italy, China, Japan and many other countries of the world."

"I am not saying these things to frighten anyone. I am simply quoting data at the disposal of science."

Takes Responsible Attitude

"The Soviet Union . . . knows well the potentialities of these arms. We have created them for the defense of our country and of other socialist countries. For that reason we have a responsible attitude in the matter of war and peace. We do not want war. But we do not fear it. If war is forced upon us, we shall be able to give a resolute rebuff to the aggressors, and the aggressors know it."

So it's Mr. Khrushchev now who relies on the deterrent power of "massive retaliation." The world at last has convincing testimony that a nuclear stalemate has been achieved. This has come about largely through the growth of American military power. Certainly this hasn't happened during the two years of the present administration, but is the result of the build-up of nuclear weapons in general and of missiles in particular during the Eisenhower Administration. Pioneer Practical Nurse Students Nearing Phase 2

Twenty-four students in the first licensed practical nursing course to be offered in the area will complete the classroom phase of instruction next month, going onto practical experience in area hospitals.

The 11-month course was started in September by the adult education department of Kingston City School System (Consolidated) through the co-operation of the vocational department. Classes are being conducted at the Brigham School, Smith Avenue and O'Neil Street, where a large classroom, a modern nursing laboratory with seven hospital beds, side tables and other equipment, and a complete kitchen laboratory and diet center for nutrition instruction.

Staff of Three

The faculty of three is headed by Mrs. Shirley Fletcher, RN, co-ordinator and instruction nurse; Mrs. Beverly Delano, RN, instructor in nursing and Mrs. Sylvia Starkman, BS, who teaches the nutrition and family life part of the program. There is no other similar course being offered between Rockland County and Albany.

The students range in age from 18 years to 50 years. Some have completed their education and some have not, but they are all working hard to qualify as licensed practical nurses. After graduation from this course in August, 1963, they will be eligible to take the NYS examination for licensed practical nurses.

The students attend school from 8:30 a. m. to 3:15 p. m. daily from September to the middle of February. At that time, they will begin their practical experience in the various hospitals of Kingston and work the full 8 hour hospital day until August. The Kingston City Hospital, Benedictine Hospital, the Ulster County Infirmary, and the TB Hospital are all co-operating in this program.

Service Club Assistance

Those who live in the Kingston Consolidated School District pay a tuition fee of $150, while those who come from out of the school district pay $200 tuition. All pay for their own uniforms and books. The Lions Club of Kingston has given two partial scholarships and made a loan fund available for students who need financial help. Most of the students are married and average two to three children each. More scholarships and financial assistance from other service clubs would enable additional deserving students to enroll in the next class in September 1963.

A number of the students have been nurses aides in the local hospitals but want to equip themselves to be of greater service and have greater earning power. When they graduate and get their license, they will be able to work in the local hospitals, nursing homes and private practical nursing duty.

New Financial Report Set for TB, Heart Funds

A new system of financial reporting to make it easier for contributors to see how their Christmas Seal and Heart Fund donations are used, is being adopted by the Ulster County TB and Heart Association and Heart Chapter.

"Starting in 1963, our reporting will be based on a uniform accounting system developed after two years of careful study by the National Health Council and approved by the National Tuberculosis Association and American Heart Association," stated Miss Hazel M. Steed, executive director, for the local agencies.

Miss Steed noted that up to now various health agencies kept books in different ways, making it difficult or impossible for the public to compare their financial statements. This would now be corrected.

To assist local organizations in putting the new plan into practice, the State Tuberculosis and Heart Associations are providing manual guides and have scheduled their comptroller, Samuel L. Steinwurtzel, CPA, to conduct regional instructional institutes. The Schenectady meeting will be attended by representatives of our board and staff.

The Christmas Seal and Heart Fund agencies are approved for tax exemption and report annually to the State Charities Registration Bureau at Albany.

Ohio Congressman Tells Shirt Tale

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, gets hot under the collar when he thinks about that shirt.

"When I sat down, the shirt remained standing," he told his colleagues in the House Friday. "If I stood too long, the shirt tugged at me to sit down."

What really made it hard for Vanik to keep his shirt on was the thought of the department store sale at which he bought the unruly garment.

"They advertised a shirt sale of famous name brands — all sizes and colors," he said. "Well, there were a few. The colored shirts were in schoolbus yellow and un-American pink."

"And they were in sizes for neckless men with flippers for arms."

Then, said Vanik, he noticed stacks of other shirts, tailored in Japan, and "I discovered the famous label was a lure to get me into one of these other shirts."

Vanik said he bought one and found it all right until it came back from the laundry. "It was like thin armorplate," he said, "completely unresponsive to my commands."

Vanik labeled his talk "Consumer Bulletin No. 1" and said he will deliver others during the session, "to direct the attention of the House to business practices which affect consumers."

The Kodiak bear is said to be the largest meat-eating animal in the world.

Will Study English On Own at Union

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Nearly half of the 300 freshmen at Union College will study English next semester on their own, rather than attend classes in the subject.

Those participating in the experiment, the college said in announcing it Sunday, will be selected at random and will be given the same reading and writing assignments as those who will continue to attend regular one-hour classes three times a week.

The students will be required to attend, instead of classes, six 90-minute seminars during the semester starting next month. In addition, they may consult faculty members informally on any questions that arise during their studies.

At the end of the semester, all freshmen will take the same final examination. The experiment will be evaluated on the basis of the examination results.

Black Angus Herd Brings $133,000

HIGHMORE, S. D. (AP)—Rancher Bethel Frei's herd of 550 black Angus cattle, driven overland to market through bitter cold and icy winds, brought $133,000 at an auction in this central South Dakota town Saturday.

Frei, members of his family and 10 drovers drove the herd 56 miles last week from Frei's 3,000-acre ranch southeast of Pierre.

GRAND ISLAND, N.Y. (AP)—A tavern-owner was found shot to death today at his home in this Buffalo suburb, and his 13-year-old son, arrested in New York City, admitted the slaying, police said.

Jimmy Collins told police he fired five shotgun blasts into his father, Howard Collins, about 38, because the father objected to the youth's 15-year-old girl-friend.

Young Collins was driving with the girl, Grace Muel, when a New York City patrolman stopped them because the boy looked too young to be driving. A loaded Browning automatic shotgun was found in the car.

The boy told police that after he shot his father, he telephoned the girl. She met him at his house and they left in an automobile. A dealer had loaned his father, who was awaiting delivery on a new car.

Found by Wife

The body of the elder Collins was found by his wife, Joan, when she returned home about midnight from a tavern which she and her husband operated jointly.

She had telephoned home earlier when her husband failed to report at the tavern to relieve her.

A Manhattan patrolman noticed the boy and girl in the car at 138th Street and Third Avenue about 4 a.m. The patrolman said he stopped the vehicle because of the extreme youthfulness of the two.

The boy had no operator's license or registration papers and the pair would say only that they were runaways, police said. In a search of the car, the patrolman found the shotgun and took the pair to the police station.

Not Reported Missing

After questioning, a detective telephoned the girl's mother in Grand Island and was told that the girl had run away, but had not been reported missing.

About an hour later, he received a telephone call from the Erie County Sheriff's Office, which said the pair was wanted for questioning in the slaying.

Police said the boy had threatened several times in the past to kill his father.

Gives Account

About 3:50 p. m., another argument developed between the two. The father went to the bathroom and the boy got the gun. The boy said this happened:

When the father came back, the boy fired. The father came toward him and the boy fired four more times.

The boy and the girl were detained on charges of delinquency, with specifications of grand larceny and violation of the Sullivan Weapons Law.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market encountered more profit-taking early this afternoon and lost some ground in moderate trading.

Most key stocks were down from fractions to about a point. Wider declines were registered by some of the higher-priced or more volatile issues.

Brokers said the decline was a logical outgrowth of the market's fast rise of recent months. A note of uncertainty was created by President Kennedy's annual economic report, made public at noon.

All the Big Three motors were losers. The trend was generally lower among oils, steels, aerospace issues, drugs, rails and utilities.

McDonnell Aircraft was up about a point. Fractional losses were taken by United Aircraft, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks had gains off 7 at 25.16 with industrials off 2, rails off 8, and utilities off 2.

Ford and Chrysler fell about a point each. General Motors dipped fractionally.

IBM and U.S. Smelting slumped off a couple of points each and Xerox dropped 3 or more. Polaroid regained about a point.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were narrowly mixed.

Solve Dispute Between School And Business Men

Settlement of a disagreement between two Woodstock businessmen — Charles and Frederick Strassberg of the News Shop — and the Ontario Central School was announced at the January meeting of the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber secretary Richard Langham told of the recent successful negotiations between the parties concerning the sale of party-back books and various school supplies by the school.

The News Shop proprietors felt that the sale of these particular items was an injustice to area businessmen, who sell the same merchandise, especially if businessmen had purchased an additional amount of books and other items to accommodate the needs of students.

Report of Meeting
Richard Langham, representing the Chamber of Commerce, along with member Frederick Strassberg met with Superintendent of Schools Dr. George Sullivan to resolve the disagreement.

Dr. Sullivan explained that the school bookshop was not designed to compete against area businessmen, but rather to afford students the opportunity of actually maintaining a store, selling, keeping books and handling a cash register, etc.

He also pointed out that a number of students come from the far outlying areas of the 400-square mile school district and acquiring recommended books often presents a problem to those living in rural areas where even homes are far apart.

A mutual understanding was reached at the meeting and Dr. Sullivan said that the school did not have any intention of purchasing additional supplies for retail sale. If, however, additional purchases were required, the area merchants would be given the opportunity of bidding for the school's purchase of supplies for the students store.

Retirement Plan
Attorney Alvin Moscovitz of Woodstock and Frank Hornbeck, manager of the Kingston branch of Carl M. Loeb Rhodes and Company, Investment Brokers and members of the New York Stock Exchange, spoke on the Keogh Retirement Plan for the self-employed.

Hornbeck said the Keogh Bill provides self-employed individuals with their first opportunity to create tax-exempt retirement plans. However, the bill is of benefit mainly to professionals like doctors, lawyers, etc. who come under the $25,000 income tax bracket. These individuals may contribute 10 percent of their income up to a maximum of $2,500 in any one year and one-half of the contribution may be deducted from current income for federal tax purposes.

If the self-employed person has employees of more than 3 years service, they must be included in the plan and contributions for their benefit must be at a percentage of their earnings. Contributions for the benefit employees are fully deductible and may be set up so that Social Security payments may reduce the cost of including employees in the plan.

Contributions to the plan must be invested in one of the following ways: cash may be made to a trust fund administered by a bank; investments in mutual funds with a bank as custodian; annuity contracts or endowment life insurance may be purchased; investments may be made in a new series of government bonds issued for this purpose and finally, certain "Face Amount Certificates" may be purchased.

Re-Elect Foster League Prexy
Arthur J. Foster has been re-elected president of the Art Students League of New York and Woodstock.

Other officers named at the annual election meeting were: Francis J. Barber, vice president. Both were re-elected without opposition. Mrs. Ivy Black was elected to the office of Women's Vice President, also unopposed, but, unlike the others, for the first time.

Re-elected directors were William J. Dobbin, Ted Davies and Geoffrey K. Mawby.

Edith Jay, women's vice president on the outgoing board, reported the organization of a Members Activities Committee. The committee, she said, will work for the benefit of the league and will concentrate on new members.

The members of this new committee to function independently of the Board of Control are all league stalwarts: Isabel Bishop, Lloyd Goodrich, Ruth Van Cleave, Augusta Kelley, Denver Lindley, Elizabeth Kaye and Simon Goldsmith. Edith Jay will serve as the committee's chairman.

President's Report
In his annual report to the league's membership, President Foster made the following points: 1. The current membership of the league is 4,960. 2. Registration at the league is approximately the same as last year. 3. The building fund has increased by $1,400 of which $1,000 was given by the Lillian Terry Emerson Foundation. 4. The Instructors Fund has increased by $8,860. The Joe and Emily Lowe Foundation gave $3,900 to the fund, and $3,600 was realized from the sale of works donated by instructors. 5.

Benton Succeeds Speicher Chair

Thomas Hart Benton, former instructor at the Art Student's League in New York City, was among several outstanding artists recently elected members of the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

Benton will occupy the chair formerly held by the late Eugene Speicher of Woodstock. Georgia O'Keeffe, painter and a former League student, was also elected.

Whitney Annual
The 1962 Annual Exhibition of Contemporary American Sculpture and Drawings at the Whitney Museum will continue through Feb. 3. The exhibition consists of 184 works by 164 artists, including Chaim Gross, Philip Guston and Edwin Dickinson.

The showing of the Annual will be followed by a one-man exhibition of the works of James Brooks, pioneer abstract expressionist and a former League student.

Art Shows
Reginald Marsh will exhibit at Albany Institute of History and Art from Feb. 19 through March 31.

The National Academy of Design, 138th Annual Exhibition, is scheduled Feb. 21-March 17. The New York Society of Women Artists, 38th Annual, will be held at Lever House, Feb. 4-17.

Arrange Dance For Youth Center

Plans have been announced for a gala dance and entertainment sponsored by the Woodstock Youth Center on Feb. 8, at 8 p. m., at the Woodstock elementary school.

The entertainment will be provided by "The Monzelles" from Kingston and "Danny and Juniors" from New York City.

Refreshments will be served and gay decorations will achieve a delightful atmosphere to be enjoyed by all. All teenagers are invited.

Tickets will be sold in advance and it is advisable to obtain them early. Tickets may be purchased by contacting Tom DeWitt, president of the Youth Center.

Report Vandalism In Saugerties Village

Two acts of vandalism, which police believe may be related, occurred in the Village of Saugerties Saturday night.

A report by Officer Jack Washburn said the large plate glass window at the South Partition Street Laundrymat at the intersection of West Bridge Street, was smashed during the night and the wall inside the laundrymat, which is open all night, was also damaged.

In another part of the village, a small window at the laundry of George P. Goon, Market Street, was smashed during the same night, police reported. Police believe this might have been done by a thrown object from a car.

Joint Incinerator Plant

Engineers estimate the town and Poughkeepsie city will begin operation of a joint incinerator plant operation in about 18 months, according to Town Supervisor Thomas D. Mahar.

He said the recent vote approving the sewage disposal district in the town was the initial step.

Hearing Tuesday On Rhinecliff Station Closing

Supervisor Milton Moul (Rhinebeck) has appealed to Northern Dutchess County residents to unite in opposing the proposed closing of the New York Central Railroad station at Rhinecliff, at a public hearing Tuesday.

The Public Service Commission has scheduled the session at the Rhinebeck Town Hall.

Moul contended that those residents favoring the opening of the Barrytown station, in preference to maintaining the Rhinecliff station, would be playing into the hands of the railroad.

The supervisor predicted that if the Rhinecliff station is closed and the Barrytown station reopened, it probably will be a year or two before the latter section of the county will be left without a station between Poughkeepsie and Hudson.

Moul said continued operation of the Rhinecliff station "is vital to Rhinebeck's future growth."

New Water Plan For Poughkeepsie To Be Considered

Water rates must be increased 61 percent in Poughkeepsie if the city does not sell its water system to Dutchess County Water District, according to determination in a rate comparison survey completed by City Manager Kenneth Pearce.

Superintendent of Public Works Harold R. Dean said he found that water rates in the city of Poughkeepsie would be raised 22.1 cents per 100 cubic feet from the present 35 cents to 57.1 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 10,000 cubic feet of water consumed.

Dean made that assertion in answer to a key question raised by Democratic members of the Poughkeepsie Common Council as to what would happen to the city rates if the city does not join the county district.

The rate would be raised 22.1 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 10,000 cubic feet of water and the next 90,000 cubic feet would increase 22 cents from 32 to 54 cents and 22.1 cents from 28 to 50.1 cents for each 100 cubic feet more than 100,000 feet of water consumed, according to Dean.

The Common Council meets tonight to act on the water system plan.

believe there is a strong possibility that Khrushchev is reconsidering his relations with the West in the light of this so, it could mean that he is entirely serious about putting an end to nuclear tests and would be prepared to make additional concessions.

At the United Nations, diplomats saw encouraging progress in Khrushchev's move, and in Britain a Foreign Office spokesman said: "This is obviously an important development, since in particular it accepts the principle of on-site inspection. But, as President Kennedy's answer shows, there are many problems still to be solved."

Reason Given
The reason Khrushchev offered Kennedy for his policy reversal was that he understood that Kennedy could not persuade the U.S. Senate to ratify a test ban treaty unless there was some provision for on-site inspections.

"If this is the only difficulty on the way to agreement," he wrote, "then for the noble and humane goal of ceasing nuclear weapon tests we are ready to meet you half way in this question."

Kennedy replied that the right of inspection at some of the sites where a "snack" nuclear test might have been held is essential not only because of congressional concern but because of the need to have "a reliable agreement."

Khrushchev said his deputy foreign minister, Vasily V. Kuznetsov, was told by U.S. Ambassador Arthur Dean last October that the U.S. government would consider two to four on-site inspections a year to be sufficient.

Kennedy replied that Dean actually had said the United States would require eight to 10 inspections, which was a reduction from the 12 to 20 previously demanded by the United States. Kennedy made clear that the total Khrushchev offered was not enough.

Tuition Protest

students, Trustee Roosevelt said. It would be state-wide and would include state colleges in New York City, he said.

Roosevelt said the tuition plans studied by the New York State University trustees include the California system, and plans of the University of Michigan and the University of Illinois. Mr. Roosevelt has a daughter at the University of Michigan.

Pointing out that for some time there has been a great variety of fees in the state colleges and universities and complete lack of uniformity, Roosevelt indicated that he did not favor the student position that the matter be further delayed.

Roosevelt did not predict a decision would be made at the meeting of the trustees Tuesday in New York City, but he said he saw "no reason for further postponement of a decision in the matter."

Sell Weakest Holding To Finance European Trip

Q) "I own about $5,000 worth of each of the following: Columbia Gas, Crane Co., Federal Mogul-Bearing, General Tel., Public Service E. & G., Polaroid, Standard Oil of N. J., Corn Products, and Dresser Industries. Which one should I sell to finance a trip to Europe? I am a 65-year-old widow with an income sufficient to cover ordinary expenses. Am interested in growth rather than income."

A) All in all you have a fine list of securities, most of which fit into the growth category. There is, however, an issue which fails to measure up to the general high quality of your holdings.

Crane Co. has undergone some major changes in the last two years, including an extensive acquisition program. Profits have been plagued by competitive conditions and the cyclical nature of the business. Earnings for 1962 are expected to be off sharply, with little improvement looked for this year.

With the sale of this stock you should be off to Europe with no worries — at least as regards your portfolio. Bon voyage!

Q) "My husband and I are just retired and need income. We own Olin Mathieson, American Tel. & Tel., Phelps Dodge, and U. S. Rubber. Now we have $3,000 in the above and use the total funds for stocks more suitable to our purpose?" — L. M.

A) With one exception your holdings are entirely suitable for your purpose. I would, however, suggest the sale of Olin Mathieson, which yields under 3 percent.

I recommend that you use the proceeds plus the additional cash you have to invest to buy equal dollar amounts of the following three securities: Norfolk & Western, a high quality rail which sells to yield about 5 percent; Maytag Company, a major home appliance manufacturer which yields 5.3 percent; and Richfield Oil, a prominent member of the oil industry which currently yields 4.5 percent. In addition, these three companies have a moderate appreciation potential.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all personal questions but will answer all questions possible in his column.

ratify a federal constitutional amendment barring imposition of a poll tax as a qualification for voting in federal elections. Approval of the bill appeared certain.

Based on Own Estimate
Rockefeller's decision whether to seek increases in the beverage and motor-vehicle fees will be based on his own estimate of the political risks and the chances of legislative approval.

The Legislature's Democratic minority leaders promise solid opposition. They argue that any increase in fees would violate the Republican governor's campaign promise to hold the line on taxes.

Republicans hold clear majorities in both houses. With Democrats united, however, a handful of GOP holdouts could block action.

Same Since 1934

Hurd said beverage-license fees had not been raised since the fee structure was first set up, in 1934. The annual revenue yield is about $24 million. There are approximately 56,000 license holders.

The number that would be affected by a vehicle-fee increase is much greater—well over 5 million. This is what troubles the lawmakers.

On another front, the New York State Agricultural Businessmen's Council called for legislation to limit payment of unemployment insurance benefits strictly to workers who lose jobs through no fault of their own.

The Council, which comprises 10 trade associations that do business with farmers, said benefits should be denied to employees who leave jobs because of strikes, marriage, pregnancy or dissatisfaction with their work.

Cooper Pleads Guilty To Larceny, Forgery

Accused of obtaining clothing at the Wallace Co and Luckey, Platt and Co., Poughkeepsie stores last September and November, James C. Cooper, New York City, will be sentenced in Dutchess County court Feb. 9.

Cooper pleaded guilty Friday to a 15-count indictment before County Judge John R. Schwartz.

The defendant pleaded guilty to five counts of petty larceny and 10 counts of second degree forgery. Authorities said he was accused of obtaining two suits, two coats and a sweater valued at about $338 at the two stores by signing another person's name to sales slips and charging the merchandise.

IBM to Open East Fishkill Plant March 1

An executive of International Business Machines Corp., made known Sunday that IBM will begin operations at its new components division plant in the Town of East Fishkill March 1, instead of late spring as the corporation recently reported.

Dr. John W. Gibson, general manager of the Components Division, said 500 employees are scheduled for transfer from the Poughkeepsie facility. Dr. Gibson stated the East Fishkill plant will be in full operation by August.

Transfer in March of the first group of employees, does not mean IBM will begin eliminating uses of rented facilities in the Poughkeepsie area.

William J. Mair, IBM resident vice president at Poughkeepsie, in a year end report, noted that 2,000 of the 11,000 persons employed by IBM in Poughkeepsie are in the Components division. He said the entire division eventually will be moved to the Town of East Fishkill facility.

More Workers Named for Area Dimes Campaign

Additional captains for the New March of Dimes campaign and the Mothers March, scheduled for the Saugerties Area Tuesday, Jan. 29, have been announced by Mrs. Edith Schaffer, chairman of the drive for the American Legion Auxiliary, Lamouree-Hackett Unit 72.

Mrs. Lois Maines has volunteered for the Malden area; Mrs. Charlotte Garrison, West Saugerties; Mrs. Judy Cacchillo, Glasco; Mrs. Marge Bishop, Blue Mountain; Mrs. Ella Swart and Mrs. Ethel Donaldson, High Woods section. Volunteers for the drive are still needed from the West Camp and Quarryville areas and any one wishing to help in this fund raising project may contact Mrs. William Schaffer, Clermont Street.

The Corner Bakery has once again placed a large cake in the window where shoppers may put silver coins in the icing to add to the funds being raised to combat crippling arthritis and birth defects by the National Foundation.

The Main Street Food Shop,

244 Main Street, will donate all proceeds from the sale of coffee Saturday to the campaign and Peter Williams, supervisor of the Town of Saugerties will be on hand at noon that day to help serve.

Paul Barca's Shell Station on Route 9W, Barclay Heights, will donate all profit from the sale of gasoline Saturday to the drive, as he has for the past six years. Supervisor Williams will assist him there during the afternoon.

Canisters have been placed in all area stores for the convenience of those who want to help, and teenagers are busy at the Plaza Bowling Alley each night collecting funds to assure the ultimate success of the campaign.

The sound of the fire sirens at 7 p. m. January 29, will signal the start of the Mothers March.

Chamber Lists 1963 Committees

Nathan A. Aaron began his second year as president of the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the organization held at Schoentag's Colonial Tavern.

Aaron appointed the following members as chairmen of the several committees: Peter Murphy, merchants; Vincent Amrod, education; Albert Conte, Miss Saugerties Pageant; Herbert Lachmann, Christmas Lighting; Joseph Bosco, Social and Civic Pride; Warren Knaust, industrial; Barclay VanTassel, health and welfare; Raymond Ruby, membership; Attorneys William D. Brinnier and Louis P. Francello, legal.

A committee consisting of Andrew Vozdik, Arthur London, James J. Dargan and President Aaron were named to represent the Chamber at next Monday's meeting of Saugerties Village Board to make a request for the village to get permission from the county to remove snow from the village streets. The Chamber feels that snow could be cleared away faster if it could be done by the village street department rather than wait for the county plows to do the job.

The membership also went on record as opposing the closing of the railroad station at Rhinebeck and the discontinuation of train stops there. A letter will be written to the Public Service Commission before that body meets on this question Tuesday.

Aaron has requested that chamber members volunteer their services on Sunday to help take the Christmas decorations down from the village streets. All who can help should meet at the Municipal Building on Partition Street at 10 a. m. Sunday.

Dinner Is Planned For Shrove Tuesday

Final plans for the Shrove Tuesday dinner were announced at the regular meeting of the Sodality of Our Lady of St. Mary's of the Snow Church when it met last Tuesday.

The dinner will be held in the school cafeteria Feb. 26, beginning 6 p. m. and continuing until all are served. Tickets may be obtained from any member and the public is invited to participate. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Therese Nau.

Camp Fire Girls Officers Selected

Mrs. Theodore Freilich was named chairman of the board of directors for the Camp Fire Girls at a meeting of leaders held last Tuesday in the town clerk's office. Miss Marion Newkirk was chosen as co-chairman.

Other officers elected for the coming year include Mrs. Michael Piastro, Camp Fire chairman; Mrs. John Dean, Blue Bird chairman and Miss Barbara Ward, secretary.

Events Scheduled

Tonight Mt. Marion Civic Association meets 8:30 at Mt. Marion Inn.

Saugerties Village Board of Trustees meet 8 o'clock in village clerk's office.

Esopus Legion Sets Meetings To Plan Addition

The first in a series of special meetings of the Town of Esopus Post 1298 American Legion building and procurement committee will be held Tuesday 8 p. m., according to announcement made today by Commander Walter Sismilich.

It will be a roundtable discussion to plan a new wing on the existing post home, Port Ewen. All interested Legionnaires may attend the meetings which will be held every fourth Tuesday. Sismilich said that due to the many suggestions already advanced, it was deemed advisable to hold these meetings at a time other than the regular post meeting night.

Chairman of the committee is Chester W. Barth who also urges all interested Legionnaires to be present for the first meeting this Tuesday at the Post Home, Port Ewen.

Kennedys, Guests Stay at Home; Fog Calls Off Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—Comedians George Burns and Carol Channing did some of their routines. Actor Kirk Douglas sang. Members of President Kennedy's family joined in a rousing chorus of "The Wearin' of the Green." That's how President and Mrs. Kennedy and their guests spent Saturday night in the White House after heavy fog forced them to cancel their planned trip to Middleburg, Va., for the weekend, the Washington Post said today.

The evening began with a quiet, informal dinner that included President and Mrs. Kennedy, her sister Princess Lee Radziwill, British Ambassador and Lady David Ormsby Gore, Burns, Miss Channing, her husband Charles Lowe and accompanist Bob Hudson.

High point of the evening, Coe reported, was the President's invitation to the group to see Abraham Lincoln's bed.

"The President led the way," Coe wrote, "opened the door a crack, suddenly closed it with his finger on his lips."

"Sorry," he said, "the tour's off. Mother's in Lincoln's bed."

Autopsy Ordered

An autopsy was slated today to determine the cause of death of Mrs. Margaret V. Sapienza, 71, a Hudson River State Hospital patient, whose body was found Friday in the woods near the Poughkeepsie institution's paint shop. Dr. Herman R. Snow, hospital director, said the woman had been suffering from high blood pressure, and her death might have resulted from a heart seizure or stroke.

Oriental Dinner Is Listed by Women Of St. James

The Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild of St. James Methodist Church will meet Wednesday, Jan. 23 at 6:30 p. m. in the church dining room for an "On the Rim of East Asia" dinner.

An oriental theme will prevail throughout the dinner and program. The dining hall will be appropriately decorated in an oriental motif, and members of the Wolford Tuesday Evening Circle, who will act as hostesses for the dinner, will be dressed in oriental costumes.

Mrs. William Willit, local activities chairman of WSCS, and her committee, the Mmes. Carrie Cooper, Joseph Koskie, Miss Lucy Berryann, and Mrs. Violet Davis will prepare the ham dinner. Reservations may be made by calling either Mrs. Willit or Mrs. C. Pershing Hunter by Sunday night.

Following the dinner, a program continuing the "On the Rim of East Asia" theme will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Hunter, coordinator. At 7:30 p. m. devotions conducted by Miss Bertha Waterman will open the program. A drama presented by Mrs. C. Pershing Hunter, Miss Mabel Cook, and Mrs. Paul Jones will be enacted with audience participation. Mrs. Ralph Harper will sing, "The Japanese Sandman," and Miss Beth Hunter and Miss Mary Lou Josefski will sing an appropriate devotional duet. The reading of letters from missionaries will close the program with a brief business meeting to follow.

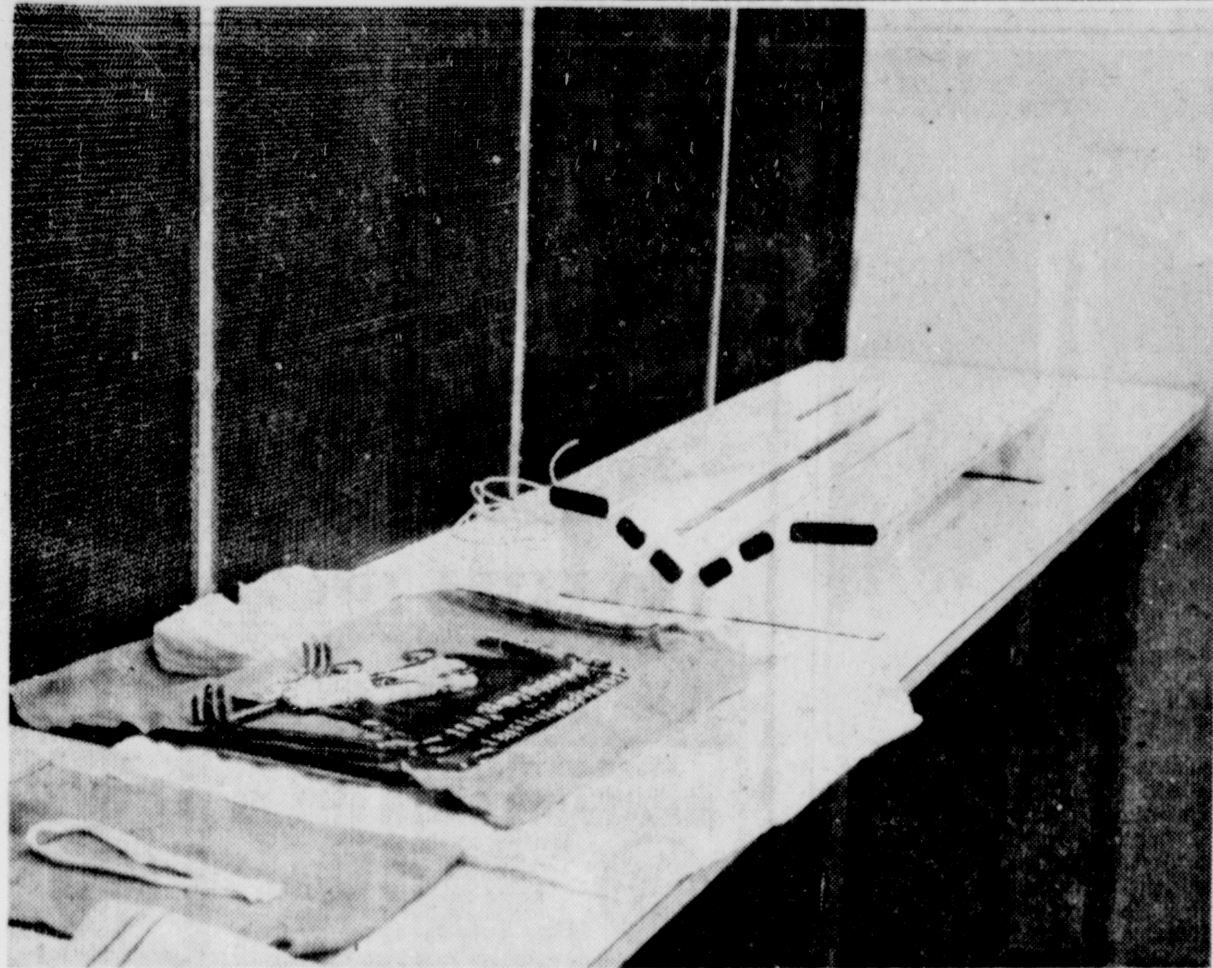

The oriental theme and title for the dinner program was inspired by the study book, "On Asia's Rim" by Andrew T. Roy who has lived and worked in the Orient as a teacher for 30 years. He was two years under the Communist regime. At present Mr. Roy is president of Chung Chi College in Hong Kong.

On the four Sundays in February and the first two Sundays in Lent, the study book "On Asia's Rim" will be used for adult accredited study during the regular Sunday school hour at St. James.

No Chorus Line

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Prince, producer of many elaborate musicals, is switching to a more intimate style for "She Love Me," an adaptation of "The Shop Around the Corner" due in April.

Doubling as director—a new Broadway role for him—Prince intends to eliminate the chorus line that is usually relied on for song-and-dance spectacle. All the on-stage action will be handled by nine performers.

INTERIOR VIEW of "clean room" at Albuquerque, New Mexico, showing "absolute" filter through which air is gently drawn over the operating space carrying off through the grating in the floor any dust or bacteria which might cause infection. In this room Dr. John G. Whitcomb performed an operation on a dog, testing the cleaning ability of the Whitfield Ultra-Clean Room in surgery.

Ridding Operating Rooms Of Dust, Infections Is Project of P. M. Sturges

A new method of cleaning rooms of dust and bacteria promises to eliminate staphylococcus infections that have long plagued hospital operating rooms. Developed in a missile factory in Albuquerque, N. M., this new technique is considered patentable by the Atomic Energy Commission, under whose direction the work was undertaken, and they have licensed Paul M. Sturges, heat transfer expert of Stone Ridge, to exploit use for eliminating air-borne bacteria in operating rooms.

The Lovelace Foundation for Medical Education and Research at Albuquerque, is experimenting with the use of this "cleanroom" as a hospital operating room. With the advent of powerful antibiotics, strains of "staph" appeared that refused to respond. Too often even minor operations were followed by fatal infection of these bacteria which doctors were unable to control. Strains of pneumonia, tuberculosis and streptococcus have appeared that no antibiotic can cure. Regardless of how sterile an operating room is made, patients, nurses and even the doctors themselves can carry these germs on their skin which in turn can be carried through the air to the patient's incision and cause infection.

Removal More Effective

Physicist Willis J. Whitfield, charged with a clean room for the Sandia Corporation (a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Company) which assembled delicate missile components for the defense effort, found that previous clean rooms were unable to prevent the generation of dust particles caused by work done in them, and felt that to remove such "dirt" as is created was a more effective approach.

Accordingly, he supplied the entire floor of the room with a grating as an exhaust port for the room air which is blown in through a bank of "absolute" filters which constitute a wall of the room. This clean air is slowly passed over the work area and is exhausted through the floor port. This, in conjunction with the other usual precautions, give a cleanliness 1,000 times greater than any previously constructed clean room. Particles above .3 microns are removed, whereas the germs that plague operating rooms are three times as large.

Grasps Medical Value

Dr. F. Randolph Lovelace II, chief physician of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, was quick to grasp the medical possibilities of the air-cleaning system, and arrangements were made to conduct an operation on a dog in need of surgery with culture dishes exposed to test the contaminating ability of cleaner air. Dr. John G. Whitcomb of the Lovelace Clinic conducted the operation; both the dog and culture dishes attest to complete antiseptic effect of the Whitfield approach for operating room use.

Sturges, who is president of the Sturges Heat Recovery Inc., of Stone Ridge, became interested in the project and sought to become licensed to further exploit use of the technique in operating rooms.

Room Is Needed

While arrangements have been made to incorporate this principle in an operating room to be included in the projected Bataan Hospital at Albuquerque, completion is some years away. The fact remains that there is yet no such operating room available anywhere in the world. Whitfield advises that the initial installation should be made in a new operating room only, and that for the first one, at least, a budget of $50,000 should be provided for the air-cleaning features, which would include the air-conditioning system.

Lecture to Link Cancer, Smoking

ALBANY—The director of the state's cancer research hospital will present what he terms "conclusive" evidence that cigarette smoking is a major cause of cancer and other serious illnesses in the annual Alpha Omega Alpha Lecture at Albany Medical College.

The lecture, on Thursday, 8:15 p. m., in Huyck Auditorium at the college, will be given by Dr. George E. Moore, director of Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo. There will be a limited number of seats open to the public.

In his lecture, which is entitled "Health Hazards of Tobacco," Dr. Moore will review the smoking problem as it exists in this and other countries. He will cite studies linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer, diseases of the heart and blood vessels, chronic bronchitis and gastrointestinal disorders. He will also describe Roswell Park's new anti-smoking campaign for young people.

Dr. Moore, who is a surgeon, is an alumnus of the University of Minnesota Medical School, and served on the faculty there until 1953, when he was named to his present post at Roswell Park Memorial Institute. He has won numerous prizes for his research work in the field of cancer.

Says Russia Leads In Preventive Medical Science

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Russia is 40 years ahead of the United States in preventive medicine, a physician says.

Dr. Wilhelm Raab, director of the cardio-vascular unit at the University of Vermont College of Medicine, also contended Friday that Russia and West Germany lead the world in reconditioning programs for workers.

The Vienna-born physician spoke at the opening session of the 25th annual conference of the New York State Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

"Our advances in curative medicine are so spectacular and dramatic that everyone's attention is focused on it," Raab said. "But in preventive medicine we are 40 years behind the Russians."

In another speech, Dr. Bernard Hughes, chairman of the health and safety department at the State University College at Oneonta, said a typical American teen-ager being drinking alcoholic beverages at 14 and six per cent of them stand a good chance of becoming adult alcoholics.

He told the more than 1,500 public and private school administrators attending the conference that education on the effects of alcoholism should be started in elementary schools, possibly in the fourth grade.

Dr. Arnold W. Wilhelm of Ithaca was elected president of the association's council to succeed Robert C. Jackson of Loudonville.

Others elected were: G. Russell Stead of Springville, vice president; Jack Rentz of Burnsville, secretary, and Joseph Coady of Carle Place, L.I., treasurer.

The capital of the Dominican Republic once more is known as Santo Domingo. For 25 years it was Ciudad Trujillo, named for Rafael Trujillo.

YMCA News

Activities Planned

The Kingston YMCA physical department, youth division, is conducting a series of activities designed to appeal to boys of all ages, according to Steve Orozco, physical director.

The third and fourth grade members will receive instruction in soccer by Joseph Fodor and will form a soccer league, with games being played every Saturday morning. Tuesday afternoons will be devoted to teaching tumbling, trampolining, gymnastic and swimming skills.

The fifth through ninth grade members are practicing floor hockey skills and will be forming a league January 23. The floor hockey league teams will play scheduled games every Wednesday afternoon. Saturday mornings the basketball league teams play regulation games.

All boys, grades three through nine, are preparing for the National YMCA athletic achievement program. The program is set up in six different classifications by weight, height and age. Each year five of 10 items are selected for the program and the following five were chosen for 1963: Basketball throw for goal (one minute), pull-up (chins), potato race, standing hop, step and jump, and push-up.

The boys are also preparing for the annual Gym Circus to be held Friday, April 19 at the local YMCA gym. All boys and members of the Kingston YMCA are encouraged to participate in this seasons end exhibition.

Last year 150 members of the Kingston YMCA participated in the program with approximately 200 spectators in the gymnasium.

The circus will include demonstrations in tumbling, vaulting box, trampoline, judo, weightlifting, clown acts and others. All members of the youth division or adult division interested in additional information concerning the program contact Steve Orozco at the Kingston YMCA.

The nation's recreation fleet has grown to 7,000,000 boats.

Find Pet Elephant Portly, Not Pregnant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambika apparently isn't pregnant, just a little portly, Georgetown University scientists said after the 1½-ton Asian elephant was subjected Friday to a series of pregnancy tests with electronic equipment at the National Zoo.

Officials had hoped that Ambika, a gift from India to the children of the United States, was about to become the third elephant to give birth in an American zoo. All they had to go on was a noticeable waist expansion and an unconfirmed report of a love affair before she came here.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—An extraordinary thing happened Sunday night: during 2½ hours of super-duper music and variety shows on network television not one single comedian imitated a Kennedy.

As recently as last week even the panel and game shows were awash with New England accents and it was getting to be quite a bore.

Ed Sullivan's CBS show is becoming more stylish and smooth all the time and his production numbers Sunday night were particularly handsome.

"Here's Edie" on ABC was a quiet, elegant 30-minute special. Star Edie Adams, Stan Getz of "bossa nova" renown and the Roger Wagner chorale were sophisticated and smoothly effective.

There was a smooth Dinah Shore show on NBC. Pianist Liberace playing Chopin by candle light, ragtime specialist big (Tiny) Little and jazz artists Peter Nero and Ray Charles were the guest stars.

NBC is eagerly awaiting Nielsen ratings of last Wednesday night's Bob Hope Christmas special, which took over the Perry Como spot for one night. Ratings taken in just the New York City area by a rival audience-estimating service indicated that the program chopped down CBS' rival "Beverly Hills" — the season's top-ranking show — to a very poor second place.

Recommended tonight: "The Lucy Show," CBS, 8-8:30 (EST); "Ben Casey, ABC, 10-11—Second of a two part program dealing with a narcotics addict.

Claire Deyo Crowned ABC Sno-Ball Queen; McCord in Court

Miss Claire Marie Deyo of Hudson last Friday (Jan. 18) was crowned Queen of the 1963 Albany Business College Sno-Ball at the Sheraton-Ten Eyck in Albany. Serving as a member of her court is Ginny McCord of Kingston.

Miss Deyo, an Executive Secretarial major at ABC, was a member of the Queen's Court last year. Miss Patricia Brown '62, of Albany, last year's Queen, presented the new Queen with the crown and royal robe. Edmund Capezutti, Student Government president from Glens Falls, acted as master of ceremonies for the event, which highlights the student winter social calendar.

Miss Deyo, a 1961 graduate of St. Mary's Academy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Deyo of 313 Fairview Avenue, Hudson. A June 1963 candidate for graduation, the new Queen is a member of the Newman Club, Dramatics Club, Outdoor Sports Club, and Theta Alpha Chi Sorority. Miss Deyo's escort was John Battista, also of Hudson.

Other members of her court are Maureen Kardos, Hudson; Tammy Nooney, Stuyvesant Falls; Dolly Cacchillo, Hudson; Donna Ballard, Saratoga Springs; Kathy Kern, Poughkeepsie; Diane Hamilton, Troy; and Jo-Ann Munn, Saratoga Lake.

The Queen and her Court were voted upon by the 700-member student body. The first ballot carried the names of 54 nominees for selection as Queen.

Ulster CYO Events Are Announced Here; Quiz Winners Listed

Joey Vigna's six piece orchestra will play for the third in a series of round robin CYO dances which will be held Friday, Jan. 25 from 8 to 11 p. m. in St. Mary's Hall, Kingston. The theme of the dance is "Teen Cabaret." This venture is jointly sponsored by the Ulster County CYO office and the Local 215, American Federation of Musicians.

The next in the series of dances will be a Mardi Gras and will take place on Friday, Feb. 22 at St. Mary's of the Snows in Saugerties.

"The Missions — The Church's Peace Corps," was announced this week as the topic of this year's CYO sponsored grammar school essay contest. Essays may be submitted by seventh and eighth grade students and may contain from 350 to 500 words. The two top essays among both boys and girls from each county will be awarded CYO medals and be entered in the Archdiocesan Contest. Winners of the recent CYO quiz contest were announced by the CYO office. For the Teen Age division representing St. Joseph's of Kingston, John Cranston and Veronica Culver were awarded CYO plaques. Leo A. Schupp, county Director, was contest moderator and the Rev. Edward Farrelly, County CYO Moderator and the Rev. Mark Shalvay S.J., were judges.

In the elementary contest, Michelle Weider and Mark Rowinski, representing the Immaculate Conception of Kingston were awarded first place trophies. Receiving second and third place CYO Medals were the team of St. Peter's, Rosendale, Michael Dmoch and Catherine McHugh and St. Peter's of Kingston with Timothy Stenson and John Weishaupt as teammates. Judges were the Rev. James Cunningham and the Rev. John Murray. Contest moderator was the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. First place teams compete in Archdiocesan finals in New York against finalists from nine other counties.

The date for the Ulster County CYO Doll Show for Kingston and vicinity has been set as Saturday, Feb. 2, at St. Peter's School, Kingston.

Paradox of Fats and Oils

Americans' use of fat is at an all-time high, despite the conscious efforts of many in our population to limit its use, says Louise M. Kakargo, assistant county home demonstration agent. "We may not be aware of the increased amount of fat in our diet because it is invisible in many foods we eat. Our total dietary fat comes from two major categories—visible fats and oils, such as butter, lard, margarine, vegetable shortenings, and cooking lards and salad oils, and fish, eggs, dairy products, chocolate, nuts, and various prepared foods," Miss Kakargo says.

"The total fat in our diet has risen from an average of about 108 pounds per person in 1935-39 to slightly more than 117 pounds at present. An increase in the apparent use of invisible food fats accounts for the rise in total fat use. Consumption of invisible food fats accounts for the rise in total fat use. Consumption of invisible food fats increased from an average of 63 pounds per person in 1935-39 to about 72 pounds per person in recent years. The expanded quantity of meat, poultry and fish we eat accounts for much of the increase in invisible fats. These consumption figures represent the apparent use of fat from meat and other foods.

"The use of visible food fats has hardly changed in 25 years. It averaged 45 pounds per person in 1935-39 and 46 pounds in 1962. But major shifts in the use of food fats and oils have taken place over the years.

"Increased use of margarine and cooking and salad oils since World War 2 has offset decreases in the use of butter and lard.

"Since 1952 by far the major oil in the manufacture of margarine has been soybean oil, while the use of cottonseed oil has declined.

"In the last few years corn oil has also been used to a greater extent than ever before, although it continues to represent a minor of the oils used in the production of margarine. The use of corn oil in the manufacture of margarine jumped from less than 1 million pounds in 1957 to about 9 million pounds in 1961. The demand for corn oil margarines is expected to remain high and likely will continue to expand. The use of

Court Santa Maria Plans Card Party; Compiling Cookbook

Court Santa Maria No. 164, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold a card party on Thursday at 8 o'clock at 14 Henry Street.

Mrs. Josephine Qualtere is chairman. Members of her committee include Mary Nardi, Ella Clausi, Angeline Ferraro, Matilda Miuccio, Betty Liguori, Helen Spada, Jane Simoncini.

Members of the Court are requested to bring a gift for the display table and an article of canned goods for the food basket.

Mrs. Qualtere has announced the card party will be open to the public and tickets may be purchased at the door. Refreshments will be served.

As February is Catholic Press month, members are urged to bring all Catholic literature including books, pamphlets and magazines to the card party. Mrs. Burton Shoemaker and Mrs. Robert Hayes will collect the items and distribute the literature to the local hospitals and institutions.

Mrs. Walter Fallon, grand regent, has requested that each member give her a favorite recipe which will be published in a cookbook sponsored by Court Santa Maria. Members are reminded to make certain their own names are attached to the recipes so that due credit may be given. Mrs. Fallon asks that recipes be mailed to her as soon as possible or be given to her at the card party on Thursday evening.

Joan Marie Dwyer-Peter D. VanLoan Exchange Marriage Vows at St. Peter's

MR. AND MRS. PETER D. VAN LOAN
(Speer photo)

Miss Joan Marie Dwyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Dwyer of 21 Linwood Place, this city, exchanged nuptial vows with A/2c Peter D. Van Loan, son of Mrs. Esther Van Loan of Port Ewen, on January 12 at 11 a. m. in St. Peter's Church, Kingston.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. John J. Murray, assistant pastor.

Miss Nan Goldrick was organist and Robert Gallo, soloist.

Baskets of white gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white ballerina length silk faced peau taffeta gown. It was fashioned with a bateau neckline, molded bodice and long tapered sleeves. The gown was accented with appliques of Alencon lace trimmed with pearls. A veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of cut crystals and pearls. The bride carried white gladioli and pink roses.

Nancy Deyo of 5 Joys Lane, Kingston, was the maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length turquoise chiffon gown with matching short veil. Her flowers were pink and white gladioli.

Serving as the bride's attendants were her sisters, Mary and Maureen Dwyer. They wore gowns of turquoise and peach silk organza in ballerina lengths with matching veils. They carried pink and white gladioli.

The flower girl was Leslie Van Loan, niece of the bridegroom. She wore a ballerina length turquoise dress with headpiece of pink and white mums. She carried a miniature basket of pink and white gladioli and mums.

Vincent Van Loan, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushering were Thomas Dwyer, brother of the bride; William Watkins, the bridegroom's brother-in-law.

A reception was given at Tommy's Restaurant on High Street. Mrs. Van Loan and her husband are graduates of Kingston High School. Her husband is serving with the U. S. Air Force and is stationed in Spain.

For her wedding trip to New York City, the bride wore a white Jersey two-piece dress ensemble. After February 1, Mr. and Mrs. Van Loan will leave for Madrid, Spain.

The U. S. Post Office Department expends more than $10 million annually to design and print some 26 billion stamps.

Hadassah Card Party

Hadassah will hold its annual card party at 12:30 p. m., Tuesday at Temple Emanuel. Members are asked to bring a sandwich and cards; dessert and coffee will be served.

Mrs. Sidney Pauker is chairman of the event, aided by the Mmes. Charles Jacobs, Melvin Mones and Irving Dreishpoon. Mrs. Maurice Crystal is in charge of refreshments.

Members are arranging tables for bridge, canasta, mah-jong and games. Anyone would like to be included in a table should call Mrs. Robert S. Yallum.

Benefit Supper Is Planned by Ahavath Israel Sisterhood

Mrs. Hy Rosenberg, Torah Fund chairman of Sisterhood Ahavath Israel, has announced final plans for a supper party and game night which will benefit the fund. The gala event will be held Wednesday, Jan. 30 at the Vestry Hall, 72 Wurts Street. The cafeteria-style supper will be served from 6:30-8:00. Those who wish to play cards, Mah Jong, or other games may begin as soon as they have eaten. Those who do not wish to participate in the games, are urged to attend the dinner with their families.

The Torah Fund, to which all proceeds from the evening will go, is the major monetary support of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. The Seminary preserves Jewish heritage by maintaining such institutions as the Jewish Museum, the Seminary Library, the Institute for Religious and Social Studies, the Ramah Camps, and the justly famous Eternal Light radio and television broadcasts. In addition, the Seminary carries on a full university program.

Members of the Sisterhood and the public are urged to attend this important event. Reservations and table arrangements may be secured by calling the Mmes Jerome Levinson, Elvin Rose, Hy Rosenberg or Seymour Semilof.

Columbiettes Meet To Discuss Agenda

Columbiettes of Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus, held a regular monthly meeting January 14 in the K of C Hall. Mrs. Vincent McDonough, president, presided, and led the Club in the opening prayer, and the pledge to the Flag.

Reports were given by committee chairmen, including Mrs. Frank Castiglione, who was in charge of the bake sale held Sunday, Jan. 20.

The February meeting will be an auction. Each member is asked to bring an article for the sale. Proceeds will be for the Club Fund. Worthy Co-ordinator, James Kelly, will be the auctioneer.

A bus trip, scheduled for Saturday, March 23, to New York City, is planned. Chairman is Helen Kelly.

A Memorial Mass for deceased members of the Columbiettes will be said Saturday, March 30 at St. Mary's Church at 9 a. m.

The March Meeting will be a "question and answer" Theme. Guest Speaker for this event will be announced at the February meeting.

Mr. Kelly spoke briefly to the members about the Knights of Columbus Charity Ball which will be held Saturday, Feb. 16 at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Proceeds will be for charitable projects throughout the county.

The meeting was adjourned with a prayer led by the president, Mrs. Vincent McDonough.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. James Kelly and her committee, in honor of Mrs. Kelly's birthday.

The next regular monthly meeting will be February 11.

Career Day, Other Events Are Reviewed By B'nai B'rith Group

The many-faceted operations of B'nai B'rith Women's vocational guidance program will be explored in a program scheduled for the group's general meeting Wednesday at the Jewish Community Center at 8:30 p. m.

Mrs. Seymour Semilof, vocational guidance chairman, announced that two Kingston High School students would help spotlight the local guidance program. A senior will offer comments on last year's Career Day, jointly sponsored by B'nai B'rith and the school guidance department; a junior will explain what she hopes to find out during the course of this year's Career Day, slated for March 26.

The program was revealed at a board meeting held at Mrs. Semilof's home, attended by 20 officers and chairmen. Guests at the session included four officers of the Ellenville chapter, the Mmes. Jack Hershkovitz, Charles Kanter, Robert Bliden and Larry Kleinberg. Mrs. Robert A. Ronder presided.

Other features of the meeting set for Wednesday will include a review of the national B'nai B'rith vocational service, featuring a testing program, counseling and publications. Mrs. Ronder announced that a nominating committee will be chosen at that time to propose a slate for the March elections.

Mrs. William Helmrich reported that many orders have been received for mother and grandmother bracelets being sold by the organization. Those wishing to place additional orders may contact Mrs. Helmrich.

Mrs. Max Millens has shipped a load of eye glass frames to the Eyes for the Needy and is still collecting more to be sent at a later date.

B'nai B'rith Women will bake eight cakes next month as the group takes its turn providing birthday refreshments for patients at the Infirmary.

Mrs. Ronder released the dates for four upcoming events. Delegates to the Hudson Valley Council will meet Feb. 3 at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Rich of Poughkeepsie, Council vice-president. On Feb. 7, volunteers will hold home card parties to benefit B'nai B'rith. February 27 was announced as the date for the group's 20th anniversary celebration. Charter members and past presidents will be honored at that time.

Thirty Years of Inflation

Early in January, 1963, the Dow-Jones Industrial stock averages were more than 640. Early in January, 1933, they were 64. Thus in 30 years they have advanced 1,000 per cent. What will they do during the next thirty years?

One thing is certain: they will advance. Many of the same forces that have put the averages from 64 to 640 are still operating in the national economy. Living standards will improve. Population will grow. By 1993, there will be more than 300,000,000 people in the United States, according to the estimates of America's leading population-growth authority.

Long-pull investors in common stocks should be reminded of the forces that have been instrumental in putting equity prices higher. A key event occurred in 1933.

America went off the gold standard. Our government, by Congressional edict, took possession of our country's gold supplies, paying $20.67 an ounce for it. Then the United States, by further edict, marked the price of gold up to $35 an ounce—the present price.

These legal acts were inflationary. The dollar was devalued in terms of gold. Since that time, prices, wages, costs, and taxes have steadily advanced. Inflation is the primary force behind America's strikes.

As this is written, the Federal debt is about $305,000,000,000. Thirty years ago, it was $20,800,000,000. In three decades it has grown by 1,500 per cent — an average of 50 per cent annually!

It is no coincidence that, as the Dow-Jones stock averages have gone up 1,000 per cent, the Federal debt has advanced 1,500 per cent. The monetization of this huge debt has skyrocketed America's money supplies and, as a result, the buying power of the dollar has deteriorated.

Fiscal policy out of Washington (i.e. spending, taxation, and the management of the Federal debt) has become a prime force in the national economy. The majority of legal measures introduced in Congress has to do with the economic welfare of our country. Uncle Sam is playing an increasingly important role in America's prosperity.

What of the future? That is a question all investors might ask in 1963.

It would take a soothsayer to predict what will happen in our country during the next 30 years. But if Uncle Sam is to collect enough taxes to pay his bills, the following primary things must come to pass.

America must be prosperous. Individuals and corporations must contribute very heavily to our government's tax requirements. National income must rise. Standards of living must continue to improve.

The United States Government has a colossal debt of more than 300 billions of dollars and it is growing. The Federal budget is gigantic. And I think it will get steadily larger.

In such an atmosphere, all investors should pursue policies that have been most effective since 1933. In 30 years the stocks in the Dow-Jones averages have advanced 1,000 per cent in price. Of course, their advance in the next 30 years will not be as rapid. But their price growth via inflation, population increase, and rising standards of living will fully warrant sound stock purchases in the years ahead.

Heavy Item

Heaviest single item ever shipped over an American railroad was a 98-foot refinery vessel early in October 1962. The piece had a gross weight on rails of 1,079,200 pounds.

Kingston Library Lists New Books

Additions to Kingston City Library include Gladys Carroll's "Only Fifty Years Ago." The New England farm family moves through the 12 months of a year, circa, 1910. The settings for these scenes are of an almost legendary American past.

"When It's Laughter Your After," by Stewart Haral is a speaker's manual of comedy techniques. A fresh up-to-date presentation for amateur and veteran.

In "Veck as in Wreck" Bill Veck recaps his career as owner-operator in baseball. He tells of the publicity promotion that made records at games.

Fay G. Calkins in her delightful book, "My Samoan Chief" is the humorous account of an American with Puritan ancestors living with her Samoan husband and his large family. It is told with humor and self-consciousness.

"The Silent People," by Walter Macken is a moving, poetically written story of afflicted Ireland in the mid-1800's. The plot focuses on Dualla Duane's fortunes and misfortunes.

In John Desmond Sheridan's "God Made Little Apples," through an old friar, who relives his life, we see the beauty of obscure lives devoted to affection and simplicity.

In a biography tracing the course of Queen Kristina's life, her partially scandalous reign, her embarrassing role as an untamed Catholic convert and her devout and learned old age is told by Paul Lewis in "The Queen of Caprice."

The new books: Fiction—"The D. L." Ashford; "A Time in the Sun," Barry; "Married Land," Bell; "Combat Stories of W. W. 2 and Korea," Chamberlain; "Lord of Flies," Golding; "21 Stories," Greene; "By the Kings Command," Seifert; Miss Bianca, Sharp; "The Tall Woman," Dykeman; "The Silent People," Macken; "The Ivy Tree," Stewart; "A House Possessed," Torday; "Collected Stories," Van Doren.

Science—"1001 Questions Answered About the Mineral Kingdom," Pearl; "The Fabric of the Heavens," Toulmin; "Flowers," Zim.

Music—"David Ewen Introduces Modern Music," Ewen. People and Places—"Boston and Return," Brooks; "My Samoan Chief," Calkins; "Concord Rebel," Derbeth; "Never the Golden City," Dorcy; "Clark Gable," Gable; "Dame of Sark," Hathaway; "More Lives Than One," Krutch; "Queen of Caprice," Lewis; "Her Name Was Sojourner Truth," Pauli; "The Poor Rockefeller," Rockefeller; "Veck As in Wreck," Veck; "Low Bridge," Wyld.

Books and Reading—"A New England Reader," Brooks; "Only Fifty Years Ago," Carroll; "When It's Laughter Your After," Haral; "Walt Whitman," Miller; "Six Plays," Kaufman. Cats—"Park Ave. Vet.," Camuti; "More Mr. Cat," Freedly. Miscellaneous—"Great Iron Trail," Howard; "Styles of Address," Measures; "Your English Words," Moore; "Project Plowshare," Sanders.

Leaders Pow-Wow For Cubbers Set For January 26

Saturday, Jan. 26, Cub Scout Leaders from all corners of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, will gather for the big Cubbers' Pow-Wow.

This annual training event, for all adult Cub leaders, will again be held at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, at the corner of Wurts and Rogers Streets, Kingston. The event is sponsored by the Council's Training Committee, and Gordon Craig of the Kingston District commissioner staff is serving as chairman of the 1963 Pow-Wow.

The Pow-Wow is the "fun-way" of presenting cub training, and offers several different sessions for the cub leaders. Always the highlight of the Pow-Wow is the handicraft section, most popular with the den mothers, and offers instruction in craft-work related to the Cub themes for the coming year. This year's handicraft section is under the direction of Mrs. Michael Larkin, formerly den mother with Pack 26 of Port Ewen. Her assistant is Mrs. Alice Hudson of Pack 32 in Saugerties. Handicraft instructors are being arranged for through packs in Kingston, Woodstock, Saugerties, Catskill and Greenville.

The session on ceremonies, stunts and skits is under the direction of Robert Tromper, assistant district commissioner for Kingston District. He is being assisted by Carl Thurin, assistant cubmaster of Pack 3 in Kingston.

Pack Administration, which is a session on the management of a Cub Pack's administrative matters, is being handled by Clem Hulse and Lee Eyer, district commissioners respectively of the Mohican Trail and Saugerties Districts. This session is designed particularly for cub chairmen, committeemen and cubmasters.

Harry Slobodian, assistant district commissioner for the Saugerties District, is again going to head the popular session on webelos den leadership for assistant cubmasters in charge of webelos dens and webelos den chiefs.

The Pow-Wow registration desk will be open at 12:30 p. m. Saturday, and the sessions will run from 1 to 5 p. m., with a break in the mid-afternoon for coffee and doughnuts. There will be a brief closing assembly, at which time certificates will be presented to all trainees. Attendance at a Pow-Wow is one of the requirements for earning the cubmaster's key and the den mother's award.

Appointments Are Made by Governor

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller today reappointed John W. MacDonald of Ithaca as a member of the Law Revision Committee.

He also announced appointments to the committee for the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth and named a new member to the board of visitors of St. Lawrence State Hospital.

MacDonald was reappointed for a five-year term, at an annual salary of $9,258.

Mrs. Edgar French of Malone was named to the St. Lawrence Hospital board for a term ending Dec. 31, 1969. The unsalaried appointment requires Senate confirmation.

Appointments to the committee for the governor's conference, to be held later this year, include: Dr. Robert Broad of Ithaca, Tompkins County health director; Mrs. Edgar Couner of Binghamton, wife of the chairman of the State Board of Regents; Albert Hoefler Sr. of Ithaca; Robert Robinson of Bath; Steuben County probate director; Frederick Stutz of Ithaca, dean of the school of education at Cornell University.

MONTREAL (AP) — A high-school debater from Newburgh, N.Y., has won top honors at a high school tournament sponsored by the McGill University Debating Union.

Joseph Rones of Newburgh Free Academy was named the best speaker in the two-day tournament, which ended Saturday.

The topic was "resolved, that the non-communist nations of the world should form an economic bloc." Forty schools from Quebec, Ontario and New York State took part.

Another Play for Kim

NEW YORK (AP) — Kim Stanley is set to star for the third time in a play by William Inge. The drama, "Natural Affection," is scheduled for spring arrival.

Major successes were scored by her previously in Inge's "Picnic" and "Bus Stop."

Signed to direct is Tony Richardson, last represented on Broadway by "A Taste of Honey."

Library Approves Landscape Plans

The annual meeting of the Elting Memorial Library Association will be held in the Youth Center of the library Thursday evening, Jan. 24, at 8 p. m. All members are urged to receive the report of the Board of Trustees, and to elect new members of the Board to serve the next three years.

Complete landscaping of the grounds of the memorial library will be made possible by a generous gift from Mrs. Edward S. Haviland of Salisbury, Conn. The work will be started early this spring. Mrs. Haviland's contribution is a memorial to her late husband Joseph Hasbrouck Vanderlyn.

Joseph Vanderlyn was the son of John N. Vanderlyn and Magdalena Hasbrouck. He was associated with his father in the legal profession in New Paltz many years ago. The Vanderlyn law office was located in the Johannes LeFevre building in the same suite recently vacated by District Attorney David Corwin. Vanderlyn's mother was the daughter of Joseph Hasbrouck and Sarah M. LeFevre of Guilford. She was born in Abraham Hasbrouck Memorial House.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hasbrouck Vanderlyn were very active in the affairs of New Paltz and were a popular young couple in the community. All were saddened by the early death of Joe. His wife, Mary Stuart Vanderlyn, a charter member of the New Paltz Study Club, was one of the founders of the New Paltz Library, and with Mrs. Lanetta Elting DuBois, most instrumental in its organization and early success. Through her efforts it was possible for the struggling library to purchase current books at a great discount, as she was personally acquainted with all of the books during the first year of the library's existence. Together, with the help of others, they made a house to house canvass collecting old newspapers to fill a freight car for sale to raise funds for buying books.

The New Paltz Garden Club, under the supervision of Mrs. Charles Huntington and Mrs. Richard Klix, will have charge of suggesting plans for the landscaping. It has been proposed to erect a low flat-topped wall along the front and main street line. The retaining wall to the west will be continued to the north end of the property and the lawn made level with the top. New shrubbery will be added and the trees will have the attention of professional tree surgeons. Top soil will be placed where needed and new lawn planted. It is estimated that the overall cost will be approximately $2500.

College Growth Plan Discussed

Seven members of the college staff of the New Paltz State University met recently with members of the New Paltz Town Board, Village Board, Planning Board, and architects, engineers and others, for the purpose of dealing with the projected expansion of the college and the related growth of the Town and Village of New Paltz.

The purpose of the meeting was to look ahead concerning the increased enrollment of the College and plans for the expansion of its facilities in connection with the projected population trends for this area and to determine how the village, town and college can work together for mutual benefit, according to college spokesmen.

Smallbore Rifle Shoots Slated

Members of the Ulster Rifle and Pistol Club, Inc. will begin a weekly program of intra-club smallbore rifle competition Thursday, Feb. 7. Competitive shooting will be held every Thursday evening at the National Guard Armory in Kingston. The program will be under the direction of Robert Sellinger, executive safety officer of the club.

The outdoor shooting program will continue every weekend as usual at the club range located on Route 32 just north of Route 212.

Anyone desiring more information as to the club and its future activities may contact James McNellis, chairman of the membership committee.

Presbyterians and Hurley Unbeaten in Church League

Fair Street Reformed cagers defeated Redeemer Lutheran, 49-23, in the Protestant Church junior basketball league at the YMCA boards.

In other games decided by lopsided margins, St. James Methodist routed Immanuel Lutheran, 51-8; Presbyterian knocked off Old Dutch, 60-8, and Hurley Reformed topped Trinity Methodist, 48-10.

Presbyterian stretched its unbeaten streak to five straight in routing Old Dutch. Hurley Reformed registered its fourth in a row and the two unbeaten teams are scheduled to clash next Saturday at 5:15 p. m. (League Standing)

Charles Gildersleeve Hits 300 Game In Rip Van Winkle

Charles Gildersleeve, one of John Ferraro's original "Whiz kids" during the late 1940's unloaded a 300 game yesterday in a Rip Van Winkle league match on Lanes 21-22 at the Bowlerama.

The former Kingstonite, now a resident of Poughkeepsie, recorded his perfect game after scores of 138 and 157, giving him a total of only 595 for the day.

The perfect game is the first in the Kingston area this season and the first in the Rip Van Winkle League. Though the score was hit here, it will be honored by the Dutchess-Putnam Assn., which sanctions the Rip Van Winkle.

Gildersleeve was a pin boy at the Bowlerama on Cornell St. His previous high was a 279 game. He has maintained a 190 average during the past few seasons.

During his big game, Gildersleeve had several hits on the "Jersey" side. On his first ball in the 10th frame, he came in "high" and what appeared to be a 7-10 split, was turned into a strike when the pins wobbled and fell.

The Rip Van Winkle circuit bowled at the Bowlerama because of the fire, which gutted Pres Bennett's University Lanes several weeks ago. Gildersleeve, an employee of IBM in Poughkeepsie, rolls with the Hyde Park entry.

Tom Wiggins Rolls 661 In Sunday Mixed Loop

Tom Wiggins and Marion Sanford shared scoring honors in a spirited Ferraro Sunday Mixed League session.

Wiggins led the male section with a 661 slam on 207, 223 and 231. Mrs. Sanford, a 169 average bowler in the league, bagged her second "600" set of the season, with 204, 183, 218 for 605.

Ernie Dousharm slammed 215, 182, 228 for 625. Bruce Hinkley powered 179, 217, 222 for 618.

Elsewhere in the league, Anne Hinkley decked 455, Frank Ferraro 218-374, Tom Hines 224-585, Art Crist 528, John Schatzel 249-596, Len Slicker Jr., 560, Rose Schatzel 508, Ron Hudler 266-568, Rose Steltz 472, Kathy DeCicco 203-542, Hobart Bach 208, 210-579, Gilda Bach 459, Charlie Koemm 200-571, Herb Frost 206-535, Rusty Scherer 210-560, Martha Petersen 479, John Franch 212, Dot Dousharm 454, Ben Sanford 552, John Ferguson 546, Herb Petersen 207-586, Orville Klomps 212-550.

Anel Blanked, Ferraro Wins Pair in Newburgh

George Chiaramonte slugged a 704 triple to pace Brookmay Manufacturing to a sweep of Anel Development Co. in a high shooting session of the Mid-Hudson Major League Friday at the Newburgh Camp-Tarsio Lanes.

In the other local match, Ferraro's moved to within 5½ games of first place by winning a pair from A and N Vending. Chris Gallo slugged 698 to show the way.

Circuit keepers were on a strike spree, with 28 of them hitting 600 or better and the league averaging 120.48 for the evening.

The standings:

"Lotor" is the Latin name for the racoon and means "washer."

The animal is noted for washing its food before eating it.

It was that threat which prompted the President to call on MacArthur to step into the quagmire between the two groups, locked in a power struggle for control of amateur athletics.

The truce was hammered out in two days of closed door conferences in the general's suite in the Waldorf Towers. The windup was a nine-hour, no-break session Saturday.

The main points were spelled out in a statement by MacArthur to the rival delegates. They include:

1. Discrimination against the full use of available facilities and all athletes for scheduled athletic meets be lifted.

2. A six-man Olympic eligibility board, consisting of three members of the AAU and three from the NCAA-backed U.S. track and field Federation, be set up to pass on Olympic candidates.

3. In case of disagreement, problems to be referred to General MacArthur.

4. A recommendation to the President that, if needed, after the 1964 Olympics, a meeting of sports officials and interested parties be called to work out a permanent solution for the conduct of American amateur sports.

5. The role of the new track federation be clearly defined as the governing body only for events covering athletics still in school. The AAU's position as official sanctioning agent for open meets and for international affairs remain unchanged.

Charter in Semi-Finals

Welu Breaks Record In All-Star Tourney

Billy Welu of St. Louis rolled into first place in the qualifying rounds of the All-Star Bowling tournament in Kansas City Sunday with a record 16-game total of 3,673.

The former champion bowled a 223-290-256-206-975 series to boost his average for the first four days of qualifying to almost 230.

Welu, 29, who won this classic in 1959, shattered a record set less than two hours earlier by Dick Weber of St. Louis, the defending champion. Weber's 16-game total of 3,520 erased the 3,507 mark set last year by Roy Loyn of El Paso, Tex.

J. Wilber Sims of Chicago, also topped Weber's record, and Ray Bluth, one of Weber's teammates, equalled it.

Among the 96 survivors from the original field of 288, are Jake Charter of Poughkeepsie and John Walther of Albany. Charter averaged 208 for his 24 games while Walther came home with a 202 average. They will roll 12 games in the next two days, along with the other survivors. The top 16 will then earn a berth in the finals.

Score, who at 23 was worth a million dollars, now is 29 and a question-mark commodity as he prepares for another comeback after signing his 1963 baseball contract with the Chicago White Sox over the weekend.

On May 7, 1957, Score lay crumpled at the pitchers' mound after a line drive from Gil McDougald's bat struck him in the right eye, endangering his eyesight and a blossoming career. The left-handed hurler has never regained the form that made him a 20-game winner in 1956.

Score, however, attributes his pitching failure to an arm injury suffered in 1957.

Now he's back for still another try at the majors.

Also signing was Pittsburgh right-hander Vern Law, who has been bothered by a sore arm for years. Law, 32, posted a 20-9 record in 1960 as the Pirates won the National League pennant and World Series. Then his arm went bad.

He was 3-4 while working in only 11 games during 1961. Last year Law made a start on the road in 23 games with a 10-7 record and a creditable 3.95 earned run average.

The Pirates also signed outfielder Ron Woods and catcher Carl Taylor.

Others signing were pitchers Bob Gordon and Dennis McLain and first baseman Grover (Deacon) Jones of the White Sox, outfielder Lee Thomas of the Los Angeles, catcher Dick Brown of Baltimore and second baseman Dick McAuliffe and outfielder Mickey Stanley of Detroit.

California Votes Wills

Best Athlete of 1962

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Maury Wills, the little man of baseball with base burglary in his mind and larceny in his flying feet, reaped still another honor today.

The mighty mite of the Los Angeles Dodgers was voted California's Athlete of the Year for 1962 in the fifth annual poll conducted by the Associated Press.

Wills' phenomenal feat of stealing 104 bases, eclipsing Ty Cobb's long enduring record of 96, was a highlight of the baseball season.

He finished Sunday with an 18th hole that typified his weekend.

His drive on the 540-yard hole trickled onto ocean-fronting rocks. His short chip out merely set the stage for a hook shot into the ocean and a one-stroke penalty.

Palmer's next hole landed in a trap. He exploded out short and missed his putt, rolling a whopping 7 feet past the cup. He missed that one, too, and took a nine to finish at 76 for the day.

And then he was disqualified.

Four-Minute Men

Didn't Make It

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The battle of the 4-minute milers will go down as a novelty but hardly an epic, observers agreed today in the wake of a superb victory by veteran Jim Grelle in the feature event of the Los Angeles Invitational Indoor Meet.

The Los Angeles Track Club's performer got in a last lap lick to overhaul L. Cary Weisiger of the Camp Pendleton, Calif., Marines, as three others, all members of the expanding sub 4-minute mile club, trailed rather poorly.

The winning time was 4 minutes 4.3 seconds. It bettered the meet record of 4:04.8, but it didn't breach the Sports Arena record, which also happens to be the national indoor mark of 3:58.9.

The two records belong to little Jim Beatty, who skipped the meet to accept a national Junior Chamber of Commerce award in Little Rock, Ark.

Weisiger's time was 4:05.9, and trailing behind were Bill Dotson of Kansas, Finland's Olavi Salonen and Bob Seaman.

Three Contests

For St. Lawrence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Lawrence's hockey team, idle since Jan. 12, returns to the ice this week with a three-game schedule.

All other Upstate colleges were idled by end-of-semester examinations.

The Larries return to action Tuesday night when they entertain Queens, Ont. The Northern New York team travels to Boston for two weekend games—against Boston University Friday and Boston College on Saturday.

St. Mary's III in Tie With Tyros

Tie With Tyros

St. Mary's III won its fifth straight CYO Tyro League victory, 12-8, over St. Mary II and created a three-way tie for first place with St. Mary's I and St. Catherine Labourer.

Caruso and Miller scored 6 points each for St. Mary's III.

J. Murtaugh of No. 1 hit 12 points and Gillespie, Saugerties, had 10. J. Gorman and F. Smith potted 11 each for St. Catherine's.

The scores:

St. Mary's III (12) — Abdallah, Sampson, Pillsworth, Tiano, Caruso 6, Miller 6, McDermott, Gallagher.

St. Mary's II (8) — Mower, Berardi, Hastings, Henry, Haber, Stenson 2, Noble 2, Flynn, Williams, Fitzgerald 4, Whitney, Haber, Bouchard.

Ice Jam Stays In Lower Niagara River, Some Thaw

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Ice remained jammed along a 13-mile stretch of the lower Niagara River today, despite a slight thaw.

The Coast Guard said that, as the temperature climbed toward 40 in mid-afternoon Friday, some pieces of ice chipped from the jam and floated into Lake Ontario, where the river empties.

Several vertical cracks were visible between nearby Lewiston and Youngstown, and there were some small spots of water at the famed Whirlpool Rapids.

"But the situation hasn't changed," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The ice, which already has caused thousands of dollars of damage to boating facilities and shore property, is solid between the U.S. and Canadian shores. Some cakes are piled as high as 30 feet.

Officials of the State Power Authority and Canada's Ontario Hydro-electric Commission employed icebreakers to keep water flowing into the giant power plants.

The tug Good News still was locked in ice, though it turned across stream Friday and inched to a point about three miles from Lake Ontario. The unmanned vessel broke from its moorings at Queenston, Ont., Tuesday.

Before the Common Market could be set up in 1958, the six countries involved had to come to terms with 2,600 conflicting customs regulations.

Man Is Called Fair, Stabbed by Masked Molester

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — A masked molester stabbed a man, ordered the victim's female companion to disrobe and then fled their parked automobile Friday night, the Niagara County sheriff's office said.

The incident was the sixth of its kind in the area in the last three months, Sheriff James K. Murphy said.

"I think we have a maniac at large, a potential killer," Murphy said.

The stabbing victim, Charles

Glenn, 37, of Lockport, was listed in fair condition at Lockport Memorial Hospital.

Deputies said Glenn's car was parked just outside the city limits when the attacker opened the door and, without a word, stabbed Glenn in the chest with a three-inch hunting knife. Then he pushed Glenn into the back seat, climbed in beside the woman and ordered her to disrobe, deputies said.

She refused, and the attacker then fled after apparently becoming frightened by seeing blood on Glenn's clothing, deputies said.

The woman's identity was not disclosed.

Expenditures Reported

The President's Commission on Campaign Costs reported expenditures in behalf of all candidates for public office in 1960 totaled $165 to $175 million.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I was glad to learn that the collection of theatrical posters, photographs, press clippings and other data of the famous Riccobono Brothers, (Pepino and Ottilio) and the late Al Golem shows are now on display at the New York City Library, Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street, Mrs. Alfred (former Emilia Riccobono) Weyhe, phoned me some time ago and told me about this collection.

It has been written up in the Kingston Freeman on Jan. 15, 1963 on page 6 in detail. The Riccobono family came to Kingston in 1905 and had their residence and training quarters at 189 Hurley Avenue, now known as the Babcock Apartments. I went to Kingston High School when Ottilia was a student there. She is a sister of Mrs. Weyhe, Edmund and Theodore Riccobono. Ottilia was not only charming, gracious, beautiful but a beautiful dancer, and an artist. Now I can see the reason, her mother, Theresa, was the premier ballerina of the Hungarian Opera Co. Emilia and Ottilia had a dancing school and I remember they danced on the stage. I knew they were something special, but you just never could make them talk about themselves. I often wondered, "Why do they have so much talent, why?" Now I know.

I just want to add a few words about this remarkable family. I knew Theodore Riccobono when he played the organ at the Orpheum and for many years now plays the organ at St. Mary's Church. His brother, Edmund played the violin professionally. I believe, Ottilia is on the staff of the Senate House in Kingston.

Mrs. Weyhe had a dance studio at the then Brass Kettle Inn on Clinton Avenue, and in later

Health for All

Neither Snow Nor Rain

Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds.

These famous words honor our hard-working postmen. The tribute might just as well refer to the little group of dedicated men and women who—against very difficult odds—fight tuberculosis in an isolated, mountain-bound area of New Mexico with an alarmingly high rate of the disease.

For instance, their once-a-month chest clinic—supported by the Health Department and money raised from the New Mexico Tuberculosis Association's annual Christmas Seal campaign—operates because a well-known Albuquerque chest specialist refuses to let time, distance and inaccessibility stop him.

He makes the trip to Park View by plane.

There is no landing field, so the plane lands in a farm field a mile away.

There is no taxi service, so the plane announces its arrival by buzzing the rooftops, and the local doctor drives out to pick up the visitor. The two speed back to town (population: 500) where they set up shop in a mobile chest X-ray van. There, with the help of a technician, the doctors reassure, diagnose and prescribe treatment for people who have come in by every known conveyance from miles around to see the flying doctor about their "chest trouble."

Everything works like clockwork; X-rays are taken, the two doctors go to work before the viewing screen examining the pictures. The visiting chest specialist diagnoses each case, speaking into a microphone connected to a portable tape recorder. Later a typist transcribes the tapes into neat reports.

Before the day's work is done, well over 100 people, some of them already suffering from severe illness, others fortunately whose discomfort turns out to be minor, will have been examined and started on the road back to good health.

In New Mexico, overcoming the odds has become a prelude to overcoming tuberculosis.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 124 Green Street.

Two Enlisted

Two Kingston area young men enlisted in the regular Navy Wednesday. They are William D. Astalos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Astalos of Washington Avenue, Kingston, and Edwin S. Mushlit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Mushlit of Ashokan. They were immediately transferred to the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill., where they will undergo 10 weeks of recruit training. Upon completion of this training they will be granted 14 days leave to enable them to visit with their parents and friends.

Young Astalos was in attendance at Kingston High School, while Mushlit attended Oerter High School, Boiceville, prior to enlisting through the Navy Recruiting Station located in the Post Office Building, Kingston.

Asked the reason for his long life, Casby replied: "I think God blessed me with it." He said he never smokes or drinks.

Casby and his wife, who is 90, had 18 children and outlived 10 of them.

He said a brother, Edmund, is 114 and friends have seen him recently near Danville, Va. He said he hadn't seen Edmund since 1948.

Casby said he hopes to outlive a grandfather who lived 135 years.

A Career in Sales Management

Procter & Gamble Food Division is looking for men with strong sales interest and leadership qualifications who seek an opportunity to progress to positions of sales management. Advancement in position depends only upon leadership qualities.

All promotions are made from within the company, based strictly on merit. A well developed sales training program makes previous sales experience unnecessary. A pleasing forceful personality, determination to succeed and high moral character are essential requirements.

Starting sales position provides a good salary, opportunity to earn substantial bonus.

Excellent plans for profit sharing, disability benefits, health and life insurance, car furnished, expenses paid.

Men interested in this opportunity should telephone Mr. Brinkerhoff, at the Nelson House in Poughkeepsie, GL 2-1100, Room 227, Wednesday, Jan. 23rd, 10 A. M. to 4 P. M., for a personal interview.

WANT-AD WONDERS

Want Ad Traps Potential Kidnapper

John W. Pullen, an ex-convict was arrested by the police for his part in a planned kidnap. The police had received a tip that a big job was going to be pulled off and the finger pointed at Pullen and an accomplice. A member of a prominent Fairfield family was to be abducted and held for ransom. Police set up a stakeout and watched the men around the clock. Pullen placed an ad in the Bridgeport Post seeking to rent a garage. Police theorized Pullen wanted a place to hide a stolen car or a storage. Captain Conte said a comparison of the handwriting on the copy of the want ad and that of Pullen were identical. The police decided to arrest Pullen before he attempted the crime to avoid possible injury to the intended victim.

Public Library Delegates Attend Workshop Here

Twenty representatives from ten public libraries in Ulster and Dutchess Counties are attending the all-day "Basic Reference Books" Workshop at the Kingston City Library today. Woodstock, Highland, West Shokan, West Hurley, Saugerties, Stone Ridge, Town of Ulster, Miller-Town and Amenia librarians and trustees are participating in this class.

This is one of a series of workshops being offered by Mid-Hudson Libraries the five-county library system serving this area, in order to bring trustees and librarians up to date on important new developments in the field of reference materials and so provide better service for their communities.

Other classes on reference work will be held in Hudson January 23 and in Catskill January 30. Librarians and trustees from Philmont, Kinderhook, Hillsdale, Hudson and other surrounding libraries have registered for the January 23rd Workshop to be held at the Hudson Area Association Library.

The workshop held at the Catskill Public Library, January 30, will be attended by representatives from libraries in Haines Falls, Saugerties and Catskill. Mrs. Polly Anderson, adult consultant, Mid-Hudson Libraries Staff, is coordinator of the workshops.

The librarians declare that the need for facts and information on all sorts of subjects is felt increasingly in public libraries, large and small. Scientific and technological developments, new of interest in Africa and Asia—all constitute new responsibilities for the local public library. With properly-selected reference books and staff trained in their use, the modern library can supply answers to a broad variety of questions.

Elderly Should Fit Into Zoning Plans: Professor

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Communities should reappraise their zoning laws and public construction projects to determine their impact on the elderly, a Cornell University professor says.

Too often, she said, community efforts to prevent or eliminate slums have an adverse and disruptive effect on the lives of older persons.

The views were contained in a report by Marilyn Langford, assistant professor of housing and design at Cornell. The report was issued Saturday by the university's Center for Housing and Environmental Studies.

Raymond & May Open New Office In Orange County

Raymond & May Associates, planning and urban renewal consultants to Kingston and a number of Hudson Valley communities, announce the opening of a regional office to serve communities in this area.

Stuart N. Polly has been named area supervising planner in charge of the new office, which is located at 162 Main Street, Goshen. The planning and urban renewal consulting firm has its main office in Pleasantville, and will use the Goshen office for supervision of operations in Orange, Ulster, Greene, and Sullivan Counties, and the adjoining communities in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The provision of a resident staff will assure client communities in the area of the close attention required for effective planning consultation. The communities which will be served initially by the new regional offices include the Towns of Goshen, Newburgh, New Windsor, Cornwall and Warwick, the Villages of Warwick, Florida, Greenwood Lake, Goshen, and the Cities of Port Jervis and Middletown.

Polly, who now lives with his wife and daughter at Dobbs Ferry, will shortly move his residence to Orange County. His responsibilities with Raymond & May Associates have included a number of zoning, master planning, and urban renewal projects and studies in New York and New Jersey. Among these are the Villages of Sloatsburg, Suffern, Cornwall, and Tarrytown, and the Towns of Warwick and Cornwall, in New York, and the Township of River Vale and the City of Elizabeth in New Jersey.

Not Much Relief From Cold Due, Forecasters Say

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau from 7 p. m. today through 7 p. m. Saturday: Eastern New York—Temperatures will average about 5 to 10 degrees below normal. Some brief moderation early in the week will be followed by a new cold outbreak by Thursday extending into Saturday. More general flurries or light snow Tuesday night and Wednesday and occasional flurries, mainly over the west and north portions throughout the week.

Western New York—Temperatures will average 10 to 15 degrees below normal. Temperature will rise slightly Tuesday and Wednesday but will drop again late in the week. Precipitation will average around one-half inch in occasional periods of snow or snow flurries during the week.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 24 to 30. Nighttime lows 6 to 12 except in the upper teens near the Great Lakes.

Buffalo Youth Held In Shooting of Friend
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Leonard Tortorice, who was quoted by police as saying that he accidentally shot a 17-year-old friend, faced a charge of second-degree manslaughter today.

Tortorice, 18, was charged Saturday in the death of Patrick Aris, who was shot once in the head with a .22-caliber rifle Saturday in a west side apartment. Police said Tortorice told them the gun discharged accidentally.

Economic Report On JFK Program Going Out Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's annual economic report—a timely vehicle for defending and explaining his fiscal program to a critical congress—goes to Capitol Hill today.

The economic report is the third and last of the major presidential messages to the new session. It will be followed Thursday by a special message which is awaited with equal interest—his formal request for a three-year, $13.5-billion tax reduction.

Congressional foes of deficit financing objected when Kennedy, in his State of the Union message a week ago, declared tax reduction to be the most urgent job facing Congress even though it would increase the fiscal 1964 deficit.

The outcries reached an angry crescendo when the President's budget last Thursday revealed how big the deficit likely would be—$11.9 billion, representing new borrowing needed to finance a record $98.8-billion spending program.

Today's message was expected to paint in the economic backdrop for the proposal, as seen by the administration—a so-so business outlook, lacking the vigor to balance the budget even without a tax cut and needing strong stimulants to bring about expanding output and future budget surpluses.

1,000 Miners Are Back on Jobs Where 37 Killed

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP)—Some 1,000 coal miners returned to work today at U. S. Steel Corp.'s nearby Robena mine where 37 miners died in an explosion last Dec. 6.

Operations resumed at 12:01 a. m.

The mine had been idle since the blast and the miners had refused two previous orders to return to work. They had said they wanted steps taken to insure safety and prevent more explosions. The miners voted Saturday at a meeting in nearby Masontown to return to work. Some 600 members of Local 6321 were on hand for the vote.

U. S. Steel said the entire Robena complex with the exception of the Frosty Run Shaft at Robena No. 3 will operate on a five-day week. The explosion last December occurred at the Frosty Run Shaft.

A public hearing into the causes of that explosion ended last week. A final report is pending.

Charge Hunter Couple Deafened Innkeeper

A Hunter couple face charges at Greenwich, Conn., of deafening an innkeeper and breaking and entering in that city. Police reported they were holding Leonard Consoletti, 45, and his wife, Catherine, 42, on bonds of $2,500 each.

According to Greenwich authorities the accused are charged with leaving the Greenwich Harbor Motor Inn without paying a $130 bill. They also are accused of a burglary which reportedly occurred during their stay at the inn.

General Declares NATO in Need of Consultation Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad, who stepped down recently as Supreme Allied Commander in Europe says it could respond within minutes to an all-out Communist attack—conventional or nuclear.

"There would be no problem at all," he said. "There could be some response within a matter of minutes."

But he said that there is a "gray area, where it is much more difficult to decide, where there can't be any pre-delegation, where no one can have anticipated precisely what is going to happen, (and) there would have to be some measure of consultation between political and military authorities."

Norstad, NATO's boss of six years, listed this "gray area" as one of the organization's serious weaknesses.

Norstad, appearing Sunday on NBC's "Meet The Press," said he deplored the fact that French President Charles De Gaulle had not fully integrated his forces in NATO. But he added that he hopes "circumstances will permit him (De Gaulle) to commit these forces to the alliance in the future."

Norstad was named last Thursday as head of international operations for Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp.
